PRESIDENT PLEADS FOR UNITY IN WORD TO MEETING TODAY

GOLD STAR DINNER WITH ADDRESS BY MISS JOHNSTONE ON FOR TONIGHT

Delegates to the ninth annual convention of the Minnesota Congress, Parent-Teachers, in session in Brainerd this afternoon prepared to take advantage of the courtesy drive arranged by the local committee and sandwiched between the heavy afternoon and a busy evening program of the second and most important session of the meeting.

Today's large program will not be climaxed until late tonight following the play hour demonstration in the high school gymnasium. It will follow the general session which will feature an address by Mrs. B. L. Langworthy, first vice president, National Congress of Parents and Teachers. "The Children's Charter" is her subject. The evening session will be convened at 8:15 o'clock.

Gold Star Dinner Tonight

Convention fans are looking forward also to the Gold Star dinner set for 6:15 o'clock in the high school gymnasium. Mrs. M. M. Weeks, chairman for child welfare magazine, will preside.

Treatises will be given by Mrs. Weeks on child welfare magazine; Mrs. George Shepard, St. Paul, on Founder's Day; Mrs. A. L. Lathers, Duluth, on membership and on the Minnesota Parent-Teacher by Mrs. E. G. Quamme.

Rev. F. A. Kufus, pastor of the Methodist church, will give the invocation. Music will be furnished by the Swedish Men's Glee club.

Speaker at the banquet will be Bestrice Johnstone, president, North Dakota Congress of Parents and Teachers. Her subject will be "How the Parent-Teacher Association Develops Personality Plus."

Wednesday, Final Day

Wednesday, the final day of the convention, finds an hour of study classes including discussions on social standards, activities, parliamentary law, pre-school child study groups, district chairman, recreation and leaders.

The general session is scheduled for 9:45 o'clock. At 10 o'clock, the health conference sponsored by the Minnesota Public Health association will open for a two-hour session.

Tomorrow afternoon election of officers will be held and the convention will entertain invitations from cities seeking the 1932 meeting.

An address by Dr. Charles E. Germaine, department of education, University of Missouri, entitled "Guidance" will bring a close to the speaking program at 3 o'clock.

A post-convention board meeting will signalize the end of the 1931 convention. It will be held in the Ransford hotel at 7 o'clock.

Plan Social Functions

Interspersing the general business program tomorrow are a number of social functions. A breakfast for the district chairmen with redistricting committee in the New Brainerd hotel at 7:30 o'clock with Mrs. Robert Burns, presiding; citizenship luncheon at noon at the First Presbyterian church with Robert Campbell, Brainerd, state chairman of citizenship, president, are included.

Pleads for Unity

Mrs. E. L. Baker, state president, in her message to the convention this morning pleaded for unity in service to the boys and girls. She urged disregard of commercial enterprises, political leanings and denominational differences.

The president emphasized the imminence of the task confronting the Parent-Teachers association, citing the need for the constant training of new leaders.

Responsibility of the state association in preparing for the national convention in 1932 was stressed by Mrs. Baker. "The cheerful and courageous response shown in all matters during her administration came in for an expression of gratitude from Mrs. Baker. Belief that the best use of leisure, acceptance of which is a necessity to education to assist us in making wise use of increasing spare time, will come through intellectual activity and planned purposefulness was emphasized this afternoon by J. C. Lawrence, dean of the University of Minnesota.

Dean Lawrence explained that leisure means time not employed in labor, freedom from stated or necessary occupation, or the resulting condition of spare time. Salient points of his discussion brought out the suggestions: That we have reason to expect not more leisure but less; that a substantial decrease in existing leisure time is in the interest of our immediate happiness and that the best use of leisure for all but a very small part of our population does not now come and will not come through intellectual activity.

FLAMES SWEEP FARM IN COUNTY; 10 SHEEP DIE; $10,000 LOSS

Fire this afternoon did an estimated damage of $10,000 to buildings on the Carl Wheeler farm in Long Lake township, nine miles south-east of Brainerd, destroyed 1900 bushels of grain, 50 tons of hay and burned to death ten sheep and 12 chickens.

The flames, starting in the hay mow of the barn, destroyed the barn, granary, silo and garage.

BODIES OF WOMEN, SHOT, DISSECTED, FOUND IN TRUNKS

AUTHORITIES BELIEVE ANOTHER WOMAN OF VIOLENT TEMPER FIGURED IN CASE

Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Three complaints charging first degree murder were issued here today by Lloyd J. Andrews, Maricopa county attorney, in connection with the death of Miss Helvig Samuelson, 25, and Mrs. Agnes Ann Lerol, 27, whose bodies were shipped in trunks from Phoenix to Los Angeles.

One of the warrants named Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd, missing nurse, as the slayer. The other two were in the fictitious names of "John Doe" and "Richard Doe."

Los Angeles, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Bodies of two women, found jammed into two trunks and a suitcase at a railroad station here set police today on the trail of a murder mystery in which, it was suspected, there figured a woman of violent and perhaps jealous temper.

The authorities had tracers out for the detention of Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd, the 27-year-old wife of a Los Angeles physician.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Miss Hedwig Samuelson, believed to be one of two murder victims whose bodies were found stuffed in trunks in a Los Angeles railroad station, has two brothers in Minneapolis.

Dr. Samuel Samuelson, Minneapolis physician, and Arnold Samuelson, journalism student at the University of Minnesota, said they had received no word about their sister's fate or whereabouts.

Whitehall, Mont., Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Hedwig Samuelson, whose mutilated body was found in a trunk at Los Angeles, taught school here for two years, leaving here three years ago for Juneau, Alaska.

Local physician, Dr. William E. Judd, Mrs. Judd was believed en route to Phoenix, Ariz., but was not found when the train was searched.

That she might provide a valuable clue in solving the killing of 20-year-old Hedvig Samuelson, an invalid school teacher, and 35-year-old Mrs. Agnes Lerol, a nurse friend of Miss Samuelson, was deluded from a story Mrs. Judd's brother told a detective. According to the latter, the brother, D. J. McKinnell, said Mrs. Judd had told him she killed the women—and "for a good reason."

The killings had been done in Phoenix, Ariz., according to information the authorities quickly gleaned after they found the bloody baggage here last night. The body of Miss Samuelson, an invalid school teacher, had been dissected, and it appeared quite expertly. Parts of the corpse were found distributed in the three pieces of baggage. The body of Mrs. Lerol, who roomed with Miss Samuelson and had been her companion earlier in Alaska, was not mutilated. Bullets apparently caused death.

Authorities trailed two women on a train bound for Phoenix today, but when the train arrived at Phoenix, they found no trace of the women.

Inspector of Detectives David Davidson said he believed that if a woman committed the double slaying she must have had an accomplice.

Davidson also said he did not believe Mrs. Judd would be found alive if she had a part in the affair.

"She is certainly not a criminal type and the realization which would have struck her by this time probably would have driven her to suicide," he said.

THOUSANDS FILE BY EDISON'S BIER TO PAY RESPECTS

PRIVATE FUNERAL SERVICES TO BE HELD WEDNESDAY AT HOME

West Orange, N. J., Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—The world, to whose progress, comfort and efficiency Thomas Alva Edison's inventive genius contributed, today sought a tribute commensurate with his services.

As thousands of persons filed past the bier today for a final look at the kindly, wrinkled face, plans were made to switch off every electric light in the state of New Jersey for one minute tomorrow night in memory of their inventor.

In New York Mayor James J. Walker was expected to call for a similar observance—darkening millions of bulbs on gay Broadway as well as other city lights for 60 seconds.

Detroit planned to stop all street cars and buses and municipal activities for a minute and Washington street cars will cease running for two minutes.

Flags throughout New Jersey and in New York were flown at half mast today.

They will remain lowered until after the funeral tomorrow.

Plans for the funeral have not been divulged, except for the information it will be private and will be at the Edison home at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon.

Burial will be at the Rosedale cemetery, East Orange. Later the body may be taken to Milan, O., Edison's birthplace.

Columbus, O., Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Possibility that Ohio will ask that the remains of Thomas A. Edison be buried finally in his native state was indicated today in a proclamation by Governor George White, calling for statewide tribute to the inventor during the two hours of his funeral Wednesday.

"Born in our beloved Ohio, it is fitting that Ohio shall claim him as her own, now that the shadow of the valley has been passed, and that his remains shall have eventually a final resting place in our soil," said the governor's statement.

The chief executive asked that appropriate ceremonies be conducted in churches and by all clubs and civic organizations as soon as possible.

"Emperor without crown, king without scepter, minister without portfolio—yet first citizen of the world," Governor White said of the dead inventor. Edison was born at Milan, Ohio.

Illinois Electrocutes Fifth Person in Week

Chester, Ill., Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Illinois' fifth execution within a week was carried out today when Merle Johnson, 25, confessed slayer of three persons, was electrocuted in Southern Illinois penitentiary. Johnson's execution was the first at the institution. It followed the legal killing of four men at the Cook county jail last week.

POWER PROPOSAL TO KEEP MILL AT WORK

In keeping with the City Water and Light Department policy to retain only municipally owned power lines in the city of Brainerd, that department will confer in the near future with officials of The Northwest Paper Company to devise a plan that will insure operation of the paper mill here this winter.

The suggestion, coming from Carl Zaffke, Sr., president of the Water and Light Board as told by T. W. Doan, Duluth, Northwest Paper attorney to the city council last evening, proposes the installation of the load lines from the city limits to the paper mill, the cost of installation to be met by the city with an agreement of lease to be drawn between the company and the Water and Light Department.

Doan quoted as approximate figures the cost of the installation at $6,000, the lease or rental being $500 a year to the paper mill.

Contract Expires in 1934
Since the contract for power between the city and the Minnesota Power and Light Company comes to a close in November, 1934, Doan expressed the opinion that the mill company would be willing to accept the lease for the short time period and take its chances on being granted a renewal at the expiration of the contract. He felt there would be little gamble connected with it.

Ethelind Terry, above, musical comedy star, is planning to follow the Reno trail to divorce, she told New York reporters who questioned her about a marital rift with her husband, Ben E. Bogaus of Chicago. "I was disillusioned with marriage, that's all," she said.

I. C. C. Denies General Freight Rate Increase

Washington, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—The Interstate Commerce commission today denied the railroads the right to impose 15 per cent rate increases throughout their rates schedules but authorized additional charges for the carriage of specified commodities and for certain services.

The suggestion was made by the commission that "in consideration of existing circumstances and in the interest of the preservation of an adequate system of transportation specific increases in rates upon designated commodities for limited period would be conditioned upon the submission and approval of arrangements between the carriers for the pooling of the revenue accruing from the suggested increases so as to enable the carriers to make their fixed interest payments as they accrue."

Increase of $3 per car were permitted upon the following commodities: Anthracite coal, bituminous coal, coke, iron ore, copper ore, and concentrates, lead ore and concentrates, zinc ore and concentrates, pulp wood, lumber, shingles and lath.

No increases were permitted on the products of agriculture including wheat and cotton.

Increase of $6 per car were permitted on pig iron, flat iron, crude petroleum and asphalt.

The commission decided that there could be an increase of one cent per 100 pounds on cotton seed meal and cake, oranges and ripe fruits, lemons and citrus fruits, cantaloupes and melons, watermelons and dried fruits and vegetables.

All switching charges may be increased 10 per cent subject to the exception that in the Chicago switching district charges shall not exceed the rate prescribed in a case pending but where the rates have not become effective.

In line with the National Credit Association, with federal reserve district bankers met in Minneapolis yesterday and set up a sectional group to work with the national organization.

C. T. Jaffray, chairman of the board of the First Bank Stock Corporation, was chosen chairman of the new association of the ninth district. Jaffray is also president of the Soo Line and chairman of the agricultural Credit Corporation, which was organized in 1924 to assist farmers who were caught in the depression of prices for agricultural products.

Others officers chosen included Lyman E. Wakefield, president of the First National Bank and president of the First Bank Stock Corporation, vice chairman; Robert E. MacGregor, vice president of the Northwest National Bank and vice president of the Northwestern Bancorporation, secretary and treasurer, and J. Cameron Thomson, vice president and general manager of Northwest Bancorporation, assistant secretary and treasurer.

Directors will be chosen to represent the entire ninth district. The Twin City directors were elected yesterday and the remaining ones will be selected later. The bankers from the Twin Cities who will act as directors include Jaffray, Wakefield, MacGregor, Thompson and Theodore Wold, vice president of the Northwestern National Bank of Minneapolis; Richard C. Lilly, president of the First National Bank of St. Paul; J. A. Oace, vice president of the First National Bank of St. Paul; L. H. Jekler, president of the American National Bank of St. Paul.

Banks in the ninth federal reserve district will be asked to subscribe two per cent of their deposits as a basis for the pool.

CREDIT PLAN IN OPERATION

Washington, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Pres. Hoover was informed today by Rome C. Stephenson, former president of the American Bankers' Association, that the $500,000,000 banking credit plan is working out well.

"Bankers in the central west tell me it is aiding the situation materially," Stephenson said. "Deposits are increasing; people are taking their money out of safety deposit boxes and putting it back in the bank."

KIDNAP AND THEN KILL BANK CASHIER AFTER ALSO SHOOTING BROTHER

Clear Lake, Wis., Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—One zig-zag trail pursued by three crazed bandits escaping from the holdup of the Kraft State Bank and resultant shootings in which two were killed, apparently was lost today in Vance Creek township nine miles east of here.

A posse organized here to head the bandits off as they sped this way from Prairie Farm met a posse that was pursuing the bandits.

Several side roads intersect the main highway between the two towns.

Menominee, Wis., Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—A kidnaped bank cashier was slain by three crazed bandits in revenge for the killing of one of their companions as they fled from the Kraft State Bank after a $7,000 holdup today.

The dead were James Kraft, assistant cashier, and a bandit, tentatively identified as "Dudley."

Another victim of the bandits' gunfire was William R. Kraft, 24, assistant cashier of the bank who was shot through the shoulder during the hold-up of the bank.

The bandits were being traced by their large blue Lincoln sedan and Illinois license through county roads west of here and were reported at Boyceville and Connersville.

The bodies of James Kraft and the bandit were thrown from the fleeing automobile six miles south of Wheeler and were taken to Menominee. Kraft apparently had been assassinated by Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Northwest bankers moved today to thaw frozen assets and, they hope, to bring back prosperity.

In line with the National Credit Association, with federal reserve district bankers met in Minneapolis yesterday and set up a sectional group to work with the national organization.

C. T. Jaffray, chairman of the board of the First Bank Stock Corporation, was chosen chairman of the new association of the ninth district. JAPAN APPROVES REPRESENTATION OF U. S. ON COUNCIL

CANTON GOVERNMENT APPOINTS FOREIGN MINISTER TO PREPARE STAND

By United Press
Washington, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Secretary of State Stimson today sent identical notes to China and Japan reminding them of their obligations under the Kellogg anti-war pact to remain at peace.

Settlement of Chinese-Japanese difficulties in Manchuria by direct negotiation of the two nations appeared nearer today as these developments were reported.

The Canton government reported to Tokio that a foreign minister had been appointed to succeed C. T. Wang, resigned, and that he was prepared to negotiate directly on Manchurian problems.

Japan announced it was withdrawing bombing planes from Manchuria and replacing them with observers; that it was withdrawing troops into Korea.

Japan let it be known that United States participation in League of Nations council deliberations as an observer was not objectionable excepting that Japan considered the league's action illegal.

Tokio reported China had requested armed intervention in Manchuria by two League of Nations members and that such action had been refused.

Washington, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—A diplomatic drama ended happily last night when Ambassador Katsuji Debuchi of Japan brought Secretary of State Stimson tidings from the Tokio foreign office that it no longer opposed American representation on the league council at Geneva.

Debuchi's message meant that President Gilbert, American consul at Geneva, could continue his efforts in the league council to bring peace to Japan and China without feeling that he was an intruder. But it meant more. It meant that the Japanese ambassador in Washington had taken a long chance—and won.

Tokio, however, has not yielded its basic contention—that the league council's action in inviting a non-member country to its deliberations was juridically wrong. Debuchi made that plain to Stimson. He told the secretary that Japan's representative in Geneva would continue his fight against the legalistic validity of the league's action. But there will not be resentment of Gilbert's presence. To that Japan agrees cordially.

Tokio, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Direct negotiations by China and Japan leading to settlement of their troubles in Manchuria appeared nearer today.

Japan's demands for direct settlement which she insists must be accepted before she will withdraw troops in Manchuria were being prepared by Foreign Minister Baron Shidehara.

And official reports from the Canton government were that a new foreign minister was prepared to open direct negotiations.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Governor Floyd B. Olson today ordered that greater leniency be exercised by the state rural credits bureau towards farmers.

The governor issued the order in answer to a recent plea by farmers living near Crookston who asked a special session of the legislature to enact a two year moratorium of debts.

Olson at the same time asked for more information on the proposed moratorium and what effect it would have on rural credit loans. He asked the probable cost to the state of such action.

Olson said such a moratorium might result either in a default of bonds issued by the bureau of the levying of a tax sufficient to pay the interest on these bonds which would increase the tax burden several million dollars a year.

The governor informed bureau officials that he was not in favor of unduly pressing by legal proceedings those who are at present unable to meet interest or principal payments and that he was opposed to the practice of taking delinquent judgments in foreclosure proceedings.

Olson admitted that the situation before Minnesota farmers was critical. The price of farm products has slumped so far, he declared, that it is difficult, if not impossible, for farmers to meet their obligations.

Smaller Rate Sought
The power would be purchased from the Minnesota Power and Light Company at a smaller rate per kilowatt than what the city could supply it through its contract with the power company. Doan stated as according to his opinion.

The attorney indicated that The Northwest Paper Mill company could not afford to purchase power at a similar rate as that paid by the city nor would the company feel justified in asking the city for a lower rate, thus causing a financial loss to the city.

Members of the council referred the request of the paper mill officials entirely to the jurisdiction of the water and light board. The expenditure in the construction of the power lines in the city however would have to be approved by the council.

Emergency Exists
Such an agreement as stated by Doan was given favorable consideration and will likely be carried out at an early time since the existing condition is one that is akin to an emergency to the welfare of the workers.

A special meeting of the Water and Light Board is anticipated at an early date and in the event that an agreement is reached between the two interests the council will call a special meeting and sanction the action of the

Romance Ends

Ethelind Terry, above, musical comedy star, is planning to follow the Reno trail to divorce, she told New York reporters who questioned her about a marital rift with her husband, Ben E. Bogeaous of Chicago. "I was disillusioned with marriage, that's all," she said.

I. C. C. Denies General Freight Rate Increase

Washington, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—The Interstate Commerce commission today denied the railroads the right to impose 15 per cent rate increases throughout their rates schedules but authorized additional charges for the carriage of specified commodities and for certain services.

The suggestion was made by the commission that "in consideration of existing circumstances and in the interest of the preservation of an adequate system of transportation specific increases in rates upon designated commodities for limited period would be conditioned upon the submission and approval of arrangements between the carriers for the pooling of the revenue accruing from the suggested increases so as to enable the carriers to make their fixed interest payments as they accrue."

Increase of $3 per car were permitted upon the following commodities: Anthracite coal, bituminous coal, coke, iron ore, copper ore, and concentrates, lead ore and concentrates, zinc ore and concentrates, pulp wood, lumber, shingles and lath.

No increases were permitted on the products of agriculture including wheat and cotton.

Increases of $6 per car were permitted on pig iron, flat iron, crude petroleum and asphalt.

The commission decided that there could be an increase of one cent per 100 pounds on cotton seed meal and cake, oranges and ripe fruits, lemons and citrus fruits, canteloupes and melons, watermelons and dried fruits and vegetables.

All switching charges may be increased 10 per cent subject to the exception that in the Chicago switching district charges shall not exceed the rate prescribed in a case pending but where the rates have not become effective.

Power Proposal to Keep Mill at Work
The power would be purchased from the Minnesota Power and Light Company at a smaller rate per kilowatt than what the city could supply it through its contract with the power company. Doan stated as according to his opinion.

The attorney indicated that The Northwest Paper Mill company could not afford to purchase power at a similar rate as that paid by the city nor would the company feel justified in asking the city for a lower rate, thus causing a financial loss to the city.

Members of the council referred the request of the paper mill officials entirely to the jurisdiction of the water and light board. The expenditure in the construction of the power lines in the city however would have to be approved by the council.

Emergency Exists
Such an agreement as stated by Doan was given favorable consideration and will likely be carried out at an early time since the existing condition is one that is akin to an emergency to the welfare of the workers.

A special meeting of the Water and Light Board is anticipated at an early date and in the event that an agreement is reached between the two interests the council will call a special meeting and sanction the action of the

Mill Power Depleted
The situation of power depletion was brought on by the low stage of water of the Mississippi river. The company's power plant used to generate electricity for the plant cannot supply the needed power for the mill and officials of the company point to the fact that sapping of power from the present city lines would cripple power to Northeast Brainerd home users.

While the letters submitted by Thomas G. Johnson, general superintendent of the company do not explain the plan as later suggested, a general idea of the situation confronting the paper mill is contained in them.

CREDIT PLAN IN OPERATION

Washington, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Pres. Hoover was informed today by Rome C. Stephenson, former president of the American Bankers' Association, that the $500,000,000 banking credit plan is working out well.

"Bankers in the central west tell me it is aiding the situation materially," Stephenson said. "Deposits are increasing; people are taking their money out of safety deposit boxes and putting it back in the bank."

2 BANK ATTACHES, BANDIT KILLED IN MENOMINEE RAID

KIDNAP AND THEN KILL BANK CASHIER AFTER ALSO SHOOTING BROTHER

Clear Lake, Wis., Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—One zig-zag trail pursued by three crazed bandits escaping from the holdup of the Kraft State Bank and resultant shootings in which two were killed, apparently was lost today in Vance Creek township nine miles east of here.

A posse organized here to head the bandits off as they sped this way from Prairie Farm met a posse that was pursuing the bandits.

Several side roads intersect the main highway between the two towns.

Menominee, Wis., Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—A kidnaped bank cashier was slain by three crazed bandits in revenge for the killing of one of their companions as they fled from the Kraft State Bank after a $7,000 holdup today.

The dead were James Kraft, assistant cashier, and a bandit, tentatively identified as "Dudley."

Another victim of the bandits' gunfire was William R. Kraft, 24, assistant cashier of the bank who was shot through the shoulder during the holdup of the bank.

The bandits were being traced by their large blue Lincoln sedan and Illinois license through county roads west of here and were reported at Boyceville and Connorsville.

The bodies of James Kraft and the bandit were thrown from the fleeing automobile six miles south of Wheeler and were taken to Menominee. Kraft apparently had been assassinated by (Continued on Page 7)

N. W. BANK LEADERS CREATE SECTIONAL CREDIT POOL UNIT

C. T. JAFFRAY, CHAIRMAN OF BOARD OF FIRST BANK STOCK, NAMED CHAIRMAN

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Northwest bankers moved today to thaw frozen assets and, they hope, to bring back prosperity.

In line with the National Credit Association, with federal reserve district bankers met in Minneapolis yesterday and set up a sectional group to work with the national organization.

C. T. Jaffray, chairman of the board of the First Bank Stock Corporation, was chosen chairman of the new association of the ninth district. Jaffray is also president of the Soo Line and chairman of the agricultural Credit Corporation, which was organized in 1924 to assist farmers who were caught in the depression of prices for agricultural products.

Others officers chosen included Lyman E. Wakefield, president of the First National Bank and president of the First Bank Stock Corporation, vice chairman; Robert E. MacGregor, vice president of the Northwest National Bank and vice president of the Northwest Bancorporation, secretary and treasurer; and J. Cameron Thomson, vice president and general manager of Northwest Bancorporation, assistant secretary and treasurer.

Directors will be chosen to represent the entire ninth district. The Twin City directors were elected yesterday and the remaining ones will be selected later. The bankers from the Twin Cities who will act as directors include Jaffray, Wakefield, MacGregor, Thompson and Theodore Wold, vice president of the Northwestern National Bank of Minneapolis; Richard C. Lilly, president of the First National Bank of St. Paul; J. A. Oace, vice president of the First National Bank of St. Paul; L. H. Ickler, president of the American National Bank of St. Paul.

Banks in the ninth federal reserve district will be asked to subscribe two per cent of their deposits as a basis for the pool.

ORDERS BUREAU TO SHOW LENIENCY TO HARASSED FARMERS
St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Governor Floyd E. Olson today ordered that greater leniency be exercised by the state rural credits bureau towards farmers.

The governor issued the order in answer to a recent plea by farmers living near Crookston who asked a special session of the legislature to enact a two year moratorium of debts.

Olson at the same time asked for more information on the proposed moratorium and what effect it would have on rural credit loans. He asked the probable cost to the state of such action.

Olson said such a moratorium might result either in a default of bonds issued by the bureau of the levying of a tax sufficient to pay the interest on these bonds which would increase the tax burden several million dollars a year.

The governor informed bureau officials that he was not in favor of unduly pressing by legal proceedings those who are at present unable to meet interest or principal payments and that he was opposed to the practice of taking deficiency judgments in foreclosure proceedings.

Olson admitted that the situation before Minnesota farmers was critical. The price of farm products has slumped so far, he declared, that it is difficult, if not impossible, for farmers to meet their obligations.

JAPAN APPROVES REPRESENTATION OF U. S. ON COUNCIL

CANTON GOVERNMENT APPOINTS FOREIGN MINISTER TO PRE-PARE STAND

By United Press
Washington, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Secretary of State Stimson today sent identical notes to China and Japan reminding them of their obligations under the Kellogg anti-war pact to remain at peace.

Settlement of Chinese-Japanese difficulties in Manchuria by direct negotiation of the two nations appeared nearer today as these developments were reported.

The Canton government reported to Tokio that a foreign minister had been appointed to succeed C. T. Wang, resigned, and that he was prepared to negotiate directly on Manchurian problems.

Japan announced it was withdrawing bombing planes from Manchuria and replacing them with observers; that it was withdrawing troops into Korea.

Japan let it be known that United States participation in League of Nations council deliberations as an observer was not objectionable excepting that Japan considered the league's action illegal.

Tokio reported China had requested armed intervention in Manchuria by two League of Nations members and that such action had been refused.

Washington, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—A diplomatic drama ended happily last night when Ambassador Katsuj Debuchi of Japan brought Secretary of State Stimson tidings from the Tokio foreign office that it no longer opposed American representation on the league council at Geneva.

Debuchi's message meant that Prentiss Gilbert, American consultant at Geneva, could continue his efforts in the league council to bring peace to Japan and China without feeling that he was an intruder. But it meant more. It meant that the Japanese ambassador in Washington had taken a long chance—and won.

Tokio, however, has not yielded its basic contention—that the league council's action in inviting a non-member country to its deliberations was juridically wrong. Debuchi made that plain to Stimson. He told the secretary that Japan's representative in Geneva would continue his fight against the legalistic validity of the league's action. But there will not be a settlement of Gilbert's presence. To that Japan agrees cordially.

Tokio, Oct. 20.—(U.P.)—Direct negotiations by China and Japan leading to settlement of their troubles in Manchuria appeared nearer today.

Japan's demands for direct settlement which she insists must be accepted before she will withdraw troops in Manchuria were being prepared by Foreign Minister Baron Shidehara.

And official reports from the Canton government were that a new foreign minister was prepared to open direct negotiations.

JAMES L. TERRY FUNERAL HELD AT IRONTON CHURCH

TWO PASTORS CONDUCT RITES; LEAVES WIFE AND SIX CHILDREN

Funeral services of James L. Terry were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Presbyterian church at Ironton, conducted by Rev. Robert L. Kinkade and assisted by Rev. M. R. Seimans of Lake Crystal, Minn., former pastor of the Ironton Presbyterian church.

The Presbyterian choir rendered three hymns: "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," and "Does Jesus Care."

The pallbearers were Albert Fort, Lloyd Fort, Albert Nyman, Martin Lee, Richard Johnson and Victor Nelson. Interment was in the Lakewood cemetery.

Terry was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Terry and was born at New Castle, New Brunswick on October 25, 1885. At the age of five years, he, with his parents, moved to Aitkin where they lived on a farm at Pine Knoll. In 1915 he moved to the range where he was employed in the mines, and two years later married Miss Halycon Audrey Oppelt of Cedar Lake. They made their home at Ironton and lived there since.

Terry leaves to mourn his passing his wife and six children: Lorraine, 13 years; Robert, 12; Gwenneth, 11; Jean, 9; Lois, 7; and Dwane, 5. His mother, Mrs. R. R. Terry, of Ironton, two brothers, Richard R. Terry of Potlatch, Idaho and Iry R. Terry of Aitkin, and three sisters, Mrs. Robert Lord of Ironton, Mrs. Fred Abner of Trommald and Mrs. Oscar Harrison of Crosby, also survive.

Terry died Thursday, October 15, at the Deerwood sanatorium of cancer. In his death, the community loses one of its foremost citizens.

Paramount, Dispatch Are Hosts to Guests of Old Folks' Home

* If Janet Gaynor had been making a personal appearance at the Paramount theatre she would undoubtedly have stepped from the footlights to grasp the hand of each guest of the Old Folks home who saw her in "Merely Mary Ann" Monday afternoon through the courtesy of the theatre and The Daily Dispatch. So intense was their interest that tears moistened the eyes of several in the more touching phases of the picture.

For several of the Old Folks' Home guests it was their first talking picture. It fascinated them and Miss Gaynor and Charley Farrell captivated them.

Following the picture, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hall, custodians, and Harry Greenberg, manager of the Paramount, conducted the party to Archer's cafe where they were given a light lunch. Those attending were John Nelson, Oscar Hedlund, Caleb Bahn, Mrs. Helena Anderson, Mrs. C. Tolverson and Mrs. Mary Baumgarten.

Cigars for the men and flowers for the women were also distributed. Transportation to and from the home was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Henry I. Cohen and Mrs. W. A. Spencer of the Drama League.

JAMES L. TERRY

FUNERAL HELD AT

IRONTON CHURCH

TWO PASTORS CONDUCT RITES; LEAVES WIFE AND SIX CHILDREN

Funeral services of James L. Terry were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Presbyterian church at Ironton, conducted by Rev. Robert L. Kinkade and assisted by Rev. M. R. Seimans of Lake Crystal, Minn., former pastor of the Ironton Presbyterian church.

The Presbyterian choir rendered three hymns: "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," and "Does Jesus Care."

The pallbearers were Albert Fort, Lloyd Fort, Albert Nyman, Martin Lee, Richard Johnson and Victor Nelson. Interment was in the Lakewood cemetery.

Terry was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Terry and was born at New Castle, New Brunswick on October 25, 1885. At the age of five years, he, with his parents, moved to Atkin where they lived on a farm at Pine Knoll. In 1915 he moved to the range where he was employed in the mines, and two years later married Miss Halycon Audrey Oppelt of Cedar Lake. They made their home at Ironton and lived there since.

Terry leaves to mourn his passing his wife and six children: Lorraine, 13 years; Robert, 12; Gwenneth, 11; Jean, 9; Lois, 7; and Dwane, 5. His mother, Mrs. R. R. Terry, of Ironton, two brothers, Richard R. Terry of Potlatch, Idaho and Iry R. Terry of Atkin, and three sisters, Mrs. Robert Lord of Ironton, Mrs. Fred Abaer of Trommald and Mrs. Oscar Harrison of Crosby, also survive.

Terry died Thursday, October 15, at the Deerwood sanatorium of cancer. In his death, the community loses one of its foremost citizens.

Paramount, Dispatch Are Hosts to Guests of Old Folks' Home

If Janet Gaynor had been making a personal appearance at the Paramount theatre she would undoubtedly have stepped from the footlights to grasp the hand of each guest of the Old Folks home who saw her in "Merely Mary Ann" Monday afternoon through the courtesy of the theatre and The Daily Dispatch. So intense was their interest that tears moistened the eyes of several in the more touching phases of the picture.

For several of the Old Folks' Home guests it was their first talking picture. It fascinated them and Miss Gaynor and Charley Farrell captivated them.

Following the picture, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hall, custodians, and Harry Greenberg, manager of the Paramount, conducted the party to Archer's cafe where they were given a light lunch. Those attending were John Nelson, Oscar Hedlund, Caleb Eahn, Mrs. Helena Anderson, Mrs. C. Tolverson and Mrs. Mary Baumgarten.

Cigars for the men and flowers for the women were also distributed. Transportation to and from the home was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Henry I. Cohen and Mrs. W. A. Spencer of the Drama League.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Cohen, Mrs. W. A. Spencer for their kind assistance; The Daily Dispatch for the nice lunch; and the Paramount theatre and their kind manager, Mr. Harry Greenberg for the wonderful show, flowers and cigars, in making this marvelous afternoon possible. It Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hall.

COYNE CITES NEW ANGLE IN LABOR DISPUTE AT HIGH

STICKS TO ORIGINAL CONTENTION TO OUTSIDE LABOR EMPLOYED AT JUNIOR HIGH

Alderman Wm. Coyne, first ward, comes back with a rebuttal to the assertion of members of the Brainerd Board of Education that the majority of workmen at the construction of the new junior high school are Brainerd men.

Coyne told aldermen at last night's council meeting that he investigated further into the labor dispute and learned that three boarding houses near the construction work are catering to men on the job.

"Do you figure that Brainerd men are boarding there?" Some of the men live at Borden Lake, some are Cass county men and there's an Iowa man working," Coyne said.

Alderman W. J. Hall said he doubted that the majority of men employed at the school are Brainerd men.

Alderman Geo. Erickson stated that he talked to one member of the school board who told him he was satisfied with the action of the council in bringing up this matter.

Routine Business Today
Divisional conferences, dealing with technical subjects including program planning, county councils, publicity, city councils and the summer roundup got under way immediately after Dean Lawrence's address.

Routine business dominated this morning's program. Hearing of reports of various committees took up practically the entire session. At noon, a luncheon for the presidents was held in the Presbyterian church. Mrs. A. A. Mendenhall, presided.

Speakers at this function included Mrs. A. F. Swanstrom, Duluth, president of the council there, on "The Three-Fold Responsibility of a President"; Mrs. H. K. Edwards, Minneapolis, on "The Need for Developing Leadership," and Mrs. F. A. Wentink, on "The Successful Parent-Teacher Association."

Banquet a Colorful Event

What was undoubtedly the most colorful and enthusiastic event of the convention to date was the banquet started in the high school gymnasium last night. W. C. Cobb, superintendent of schools, presided. Music was furnished by the Brainerd Harmony four composed of John Bye, Al Mraz, Melvin Bredenberg and William Anderson and the American Legion Auxiliary band under the direction of Edna Drexler.

The speaker of the evening, Dr. Garry Cleveland Myers, division of Parental Hygiene, Cleveland College of Western Reserve University, Cleveland.

Dr. Myers impressed upon his listeners the necessity of growing up with their children. "We regard them still as babies when they are going to high school. It is wrong. We must understand their development and grow up with them," Dr. Myers declared.

During the program, Mrs. E. L. Baker, state president, introduced the honor guests including prominent figures at the convention.

Greenfield, Iowa, Oct. 20. — (AP) — Fritz Nelson, 45, and Emil Jensen, 35, both of Minneapolis, died yesterday when the wall of the sewer ditch which they were digging caved in, burying them under ground. The bodies were recovered half an hour later.

Body of Woman Returned to Brainerd, Her Home When Indians Outnumbered Whites; Old Timers at Whyte Rites

The birches and pines of Evergreen cemetery stand guard over the grave of Mrs. William Whyte.

Mrs. Whyte died in Detroit, Mich., and because of her early love of this city relatives sent the remains to Brainerd for burial.

In her youth Mrs. Whyte lived in this city at the time when Indians greatly outnumbered the white inhabitants. She was here when the Methodists had a tent on the bank of the Mississippi river, preaching the Gospel to the Indians. That was 50 years ago.

Old timers of this city who remembered Mrs. Whyte as Miss Sophia "Vi" Pegg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pegg, were present at her rites yesterday afternoon at Whitney's Mortuary, Front Street. Rev. F. A. Rufus of the Methodist church conducted the funeral service.

The name of the Pegg family was associated with the early life of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Pegg died in this city many years ago.

Mrs. Whyte left this city about 20 years ago. Her husband predeceased her.

Surviving are two sons, William and John Whyte, and two daughters, Vera and Hazel, all of Detroit, one sister, Miss Emma Pegg, Duluth, and two grandchildren.

Present for the funeral were the following relatives and friends from out of the city: Mr. and Mrs. Alex Whyte and son, White Bear, Minn.; Miss Mayne and Miss Katherine Whyte, St. Paul; Mrs. Edith McPague and Mrs. Nettie Shaw, Duluth.

The birches and pines of Evergreen cemetery stand guard over the grave of Mrs. William Whyte.

Mrs. Whyte died in Detroit, Mich., and because of her early love of this city relatives sent the remains to Brainerd for burial.

In her youth Mrs. Whyte lived in this city at the time when Indians greatly outnumbered the white inhabitants. She was here when the Methodists had a tent on the bank of the Mississippi river, preaching the Gospel to the Indians. That was 50 years ago.

Old timers of this city who remembered Mrs. Whyte as Miss Sophia "Vi" Pegg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pegg, were present at her rites yesterday afternoon at Whitney's Mortuary, Front Street. Rev. F. A. Kufus of the Methodist church conducted the funeral service.

The name of the Pegg family was associated with the early life of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Pegg died in this city many years ago.

Mrs. Whyte left this city about 20 years ago. Her husband predeceased her.

Surviving are two sons, William and John Whyte, and two daughters, Vera and Hazel, all of Detroit, one sister, Miss Emma Pegg, Duluth, and two grandchildren.

Present for the funeral were the following relatives and friends from out of the city: Mr. and Mrs. Alex Whyte and son, White Bear, Minn.; Miss Mayne and Miss Katherine Whyte, St. Paul; Mrs. Edith McPague and Mrs. Nettie Shaw, Duluth.

CROSBY COUPLE, WED 50 YEARS CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY TODAY

MR. AND MRS. E. W. VAN AKIN
RECEIVE CONGRATULA-
TIONS OF FRIENDS

Today marked the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Akin, Crosby residents since 1914. The two celebrated the occasion with their daughter, Mrs. C. G. Howland, in Reedsburg, Wis. Their many friends have extended congratulations.

The couple was married in Sparta, Wis., in 1881 and lived there until 1898 when they moved to Reedsburg, Wis. Fifteen years later they moved to Duluth and in 1914 made their home in Crosby.

Van Akin was born in New York, Feb. 4, 1860 and Mrs. Van Akin in Milford, Pa., July 6, 1863.

Mrs. Van Akin and a sister were married at the same time and of those who witnessed the double ceremony only four are still living, her sisters and brothers, Mrs. Adeline Walker and Fred Elmer of Cloquet, James Elmer of Sparta, Wis., and Mrs. Wisner of Minneapolis.

Raspberries Thrive Here

It's raspberry picking time in Brainerd for Mrs. Charles Torkelson, 222 Gillis avenue.

Mrs. Torkelson is picking ripe berries from bushes at her home while other bushes are in full blossom. She will protect them nightly from the frost in the hope that the bushes now blossoming will carry fruit.

A BOY NEEDS A DOG---

The fondness of a small boy for a dog is proverbial. And the magazine, The New Yorker, recently illustrated it with a little anecdote.

A youngster has just returned home after a summer at a boys' camp. When his parents asked him if he were not glad to be back he shook his head meditatively; then he added, "But some of the fellows were—they've got dogs."

All of which, somehow, is a reminder that the fate of the lad who lives in a city is apt to be a hard one, from the dog-owning aspect. For the city is no place for a dog. The boy whose parents have established their home in an apartment cannot have a dog; or, if he does, half the fun of it will be missing, since dogs were designed by nature to accompany small boys on those aimless rambles through woodland and meadow which are the priceless heritage of all boys lucky enough to live in or near the open country.

Yet that isn't the dog's only function. Chiefly he is a comforter; and while the woes of the world may not seem to rest very heavily on the average boy's shoulders, anyone who can recall his own boyhood will remember that there can be moments in which a lad of 10 or 12 is the most melancholy mortal alive.

These spells of melancholy usually come from trivial causes—such as failure to "make" a neighborhood football team, or the loss of a prized jack knife, or a sudden harsh word from an adult. But while they last they are extremely real, and if a youngster hasn't someone to turn to he has a pretty bad hour or so.

And there is where the dog does his best work. The small boy is inarticulate; he can't explain things so that any grown-up can understand, and there isn't much any grown-up can say that will do much good. But a dog can do the job in jig time.

For the dog doesn't need to be told what is the matter, and he has no good advice to hand out. He is simply there, with a wagging tail and a wet nose; and in a few minutes the boy feels better and perceives that life, after all, is worth living.

That is the sort of thing that the city chap is apt to miss. If the world were shaped to boyhood's liking there would be room for a dog in every house.

WHO KILLED COCK ROBIN?---

A writer in an influential business magazine complains that politics has revealed its utter incapacity for handling the problems raised by the depression. Indeed, he finds politics "one of the chief obstacles to an early recovery," because the business world is trembling with uncertainty over the relief measures which Congress will consider this winter.

All of this may be very true; but it would be quite possible to make out a good case for the exact opposite of this charge. No one can say that the political world has not given business a free hand in the last 12 months or so. The business leaders who have distinguished themselves by showing ability to bring back prosperity to the nation are not exactly too numerous to mention. If the approaching Congress does consider ill-advised remedial legislation it will only be because the business world has had almost nothing in the way of a solution of its own to offer the public.

CAPONE PROVES HIMSELF A SAP---

Al Capone may have been the head of the racketeers for a good many years, but—if the testimony offered in his defense at his Chicago trial is to be believed—he was a rather large-sized sucker, just the same.

Defense witnesses have asserted that Capone lost more than $200,000 in three years betting on the races; and this bit of news ought to puncture, finally and forever, the legend that underworld kings are men of sound intelligence.

With Capone, doubtless, it was a case of easy come, easy go. Nevertheless, a man who persists in playing the ponies the way Capone played them seems to be nothing more or less than a common, every-day sap.

Fluctuating currency is confusing and but one standard of measurement is satisfactory. Canadian currency goes up and down with changes in value every twenty-four hours, with the result that the real worth of money cannot be told from day to day. Fluctuations are not great but they create an uneasy feeling in the minds of those who must exchange their merchandise or produce and it is baffling to keep track of the different prices from one day to another. As a near neighbor Minnesota folks feel the effects of changes in money values and will hope for the early arrival of a day when every form of money in circulation in Canada will be worth just its purported value as expressed by the figures thereon. Just now every receiver of Canadian currency must figure his own differences in exchange or have the banks look after the matter for him.

When Professor Robert A. Millikan remarks that the new discoveries about cosmic rays are apt to change the world's ideas on the origin and destiny of the universe, he simply emphasizes the fact that new realms of knowledge are opening up these days faster than their significance can be appreciated. A few decades ago it was felt that science had come fairly close to a final understanding of matter. The limits to the possibilities of human knowledge were not far off.

Then came a host of new discoveries that revealed a whole series of new horizons beyond what had been thought to be the final one. Dr. Millikan's discovery of the cosmic rays is only one among a group. Science is facing new mysteries infinitely more profound than the ones it believed it had solved a generation ago.

Hard times may have lessened the number of motorists in the United States but the number of traffic fatalities continues to go up. Figures compiled by the Travelers Insurance Company show that more than 24,000 people were killed in automobile accidents in the United States during the first nine months of this year—the largest number ever recorded for a similar period. If the rate is continued until the end of December the total fatality list for the nation in 1931 will be around 35,000.

A more damning indictment of our present methods of handling automobile traffic would be hard to find. The worst of it is that, as usual, we shall probably talk a great deal about it—and do absolutely nothing. And next year the death list will be higher than ever.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

OLD MRS. JUPITER, wife of the millionaire automobile manufacturer, gives an engagement dinner and dance for her secretary, MARY HARKNESS, who is to marry DIRK RUTHER, blue-blooded young lawyer.

Mary receives a telephone call from her scapegrace brother, ED-DIE, saying he is in trouble and must see her. The house is strictly guarded against "gate-crashers" because Mrs. Jupiter is wearing the famous Jupiter rubies. Mary arranges for Eddie to be admitted secretly. When she goes upstairs to meet him she finds Mrs. Jupiter robbed and murdered in her room. Seeking Dirk, she finds him with CORNELIA TAMBOR, his childhood sweetheart. Dirk advises her to keep silent about Eddie until he can locate the boy.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER V

IT was Dirk's voice—tired, rather, but blessedly his. Mary went weak with joy.

"I've got word of—the person we were speaking of," he said. "I'll see you at three o'clock. Can you be ready to go with me then?"

"Oh, Dirk, of course! Then it's all right? Everything's all right?"

"I don't know that," he hedged. "I haven't talked with him. Better not say anything to anybody yet. Well, I'm going home and get some sleep now, and I'll be around for you at a quarter of three, sharp. See you then."

Three o'clock. If she could just keep her own counsel until then. Somehow she could not bear to face Mr. Jupiter with the knowledge of what she was holding back. "So far there has been nothing—nothing!" There was something—not much, perhaps, but something. She would feel better when the strain of waiting was over, when Mr. Jupiter knew.

She was almost fatalistic about it now. She knew that sooner or later someone would interrogate Bessie, if they had not already done so, and that in all probability Bessie would tell frankly about the side door she had left unlocked at Mary's request. She ought to speak to Bessie.

But something held her back. Pride, of a sort. She could lie herself but she could not ask Bessie to lie. Intrigue with a house-maid would be humiliating at best. Perhaps Inspector Kane was so busy he would forget about Bessie. But as she passed the library door she saw Kane there with Mr. Jupiter and the lawyer, talking with a fourth man who had his back to the door. She recognized with a start that it was Tom, the chauffeur.

TOM was shaking his head with great positiveness. "I'd take my oath on it," he said, "that it was the same car. Three times it came in and went 'round the circle, in the space of half an hour."

"You'd know it again if you saw it?"

"I would. A black body with aluminum trimmings and aluminum hood. Mr. Jupiter called our attention to it, that's why I noticed it. A guy was driving it, but I didn't see his face."

"Anybody in it?"

"Nobody in it that I could see."

The detective made a rapid note.

"Lorimer. Special body." The chauffeur nodded.

"All right, Tom. You can go."

The group of newspapermen waiting in the dining-room, where sleepy-eyed servants had laid a buffet supper at Mr. Jupiter's order, were ushered into the library next.

Mary would have slipped away but Inspector Kane, spying her as he greeted the men on their entrance, summoned her with a nod.

"Come in, will you please, Miss Harkness? We need a rose among

Kane watched the girl's white face with obvious relish of the impression he was creating.

all these thorns."

The newspapermen eyed her curiously; she felt as overpowered by shyness as if she had suddenly been thrust out on a stage, alone. But they behaved toward her with the most formal courtesy.

Kane jumped into the middle of his discourse. Evidently he had gone over most of it with them individually before.

"So as I said before to you boys, I'm convinced the crook who did this was an amateur and a bungler. I haven't changed my mind."

"Bungler!" someone snorted sarcastically.

Kane raised his voice. "Bungler, I said. And why? Because he'll have to take the rap for murder, that's why. Any jewel thief who knew the A B C of the business could have got those jewels and never left a mark on the old lady." Remembering the presence of Mr. Jupiter, he lowered his voice somewhat as if to soften what he had to say.

"But how did he get in?" somebody asked.

KANE waved him down. "He got in, didn't he? We'll get around to that. Two Pinkerton men looked over the guests as they came in and there wasn't a 'mug' in the lot. But they left at midnight."

"But let's get on. As I say, Mrs. Jupiter's feet hurt and she went upstairs to her room on the third floor to give 'em a little rest. That talies because she had on house-slippers when she was found. Her maid was downstairs looking after the women guests. The thief was either hiding in a closet, or in the next room, or else he came in after she did. He steps out, throws a gun on her, and tells her to hand over the jewels. But the old lady was game. She wouldn't give them up.

"Now! How do I know the guy was an amateur? Because first off he grabs her rings and the diamond ti-ayra. Diamonds are flashy, and any fool knows what they're worth. But rubies," he broke off to ask, "any of you ever seen the Jupiter necklace?"

There was shaking of heads. "Pictures of it," one man admitted.

"Well, then you know it doesn't look like so much. You'd never think to look at it that $500,000 wouldn't buy it. A cool half a million! That's money, in any language. But just to look at, why, say, my wife's got a string of pearls I bought her for Christmas that knocks the spots off it for looks!"

"Taking a little graft, Kane?" somebody snickered. Kane overlooked the raillery.

"Now, the way I figure it, this guy don't have any real idea of the value of that necklace or he wouldn't have fooled with the other stuff. Here's what he did: he pocketed the diamonds, and made a pass at the necklace. Now, any crook smart enough to know a ruby from an agate knows that a valuable string of any kind don't depend on no catch that's gonna come apart with a jerk. A woman can't lose a necklace nowadays. They've all got patent catches. This guy was new and he was scared, for when the old lady refused to hand over the necklace it rattled him. He tried to snatch it and she held it up in her hands, tight. He cusses her and she runs to the balcony and he lets her have it. Now, why would he do that?"

"He must have thought the upper floor was deserted or he wouldn't have been there. And if somebody did hear her scream and came in, what difference would that make? If he'd been a regular stick up that knew his job he'd have stood them up against the wall and made a getaway just the same, cool as you please.

"No, that guy had a nervous trigger finger. I might go so far as to say he was yellow, clear through. Maybe he monkeyed with the catch and couldn't open it, as the old lady lay on the floor—we'll know when we get the fingerprint man's report. But the chances are he didn't, for he didn't have time. Miss Harkness thinks she didn't scream, but she isn't sure. She probably made a sound of some kind. Then it couldn't have been more than a minute before she came in and the man was gone. When Miss Harkness came in and when she went out, the lights were on, full and bright. She didn't make a search, naturally, and it's a good thing she didn't, for Miss Harkness," he turned to the girl, "you can take my word for it the murderer was still in that room, all the time you were there!"

HE watched the girl's white face with obvious relish of the impression he was creating.

"The butler answered Mrs. Jupiter's bell that had just rung a minute before he met Miss Harkness at the foot of the stairs. When the butler entered the room, it was dark. He switched on the lights himself."

"I don't get you, Sergeant," somebody commented. "Who rang the buzzer—Miss Harkness?"

"No. He did. The thief did. The push-button that summons the servants is right next the light switch. In trying to turn out the lights to cover his getaway he missed the light switch the first time and rang the buzzer by mistake."

"We've got the story of a chap named Doulton that he went out through the grounds. Matter of fact, he ran into Doulton and nearly knocked him down. He must have climbed up and come in by the balcony. There's footprints below. No evidence on the balcony rail or the wall to prove it, but that's the most likely thing."

"Doulton get a look at him?"

Kane looked dis-usted. "I regret to say that Mr. Doulton was more than a trifle drunk."

"Any fingerprints?"

"None so far. But I've got another witness that saw him probably. Saw him plain. Can identify him. But I'll tell you boys frankly that I don't think his life would be worth a nickel if I told you who he was."

One of the men—he was the veteran police reporter for the Star—asked slowly, "Saw him before or after the shooting?"

Kane hesitated. "Before," he admitted finally.

There was some talk about the exact value of the jewels, a request to photograph the necklace. And in a remarkably short time, the newspapermen had all left the house.

Only the man from the Star hung back, while his photographer went upstairs to "shoot" the necklace. "You know, you sound to me, Inspector, as if you had already made up your mind who did this. Am I right, or wrong?" he asked.

"And if I had," barked Kane disconcerted, "would I spring it to you guys? What you'll print anyhow may put him wise till I'll never be able to lay a finger on him."

"Ah, the old alibi," chided the Star man. He lowered his voice. "How about telephone calls into the house last night? Have you traced 'em?"

A BOY NEEDS A DOG---

The fondness of a small boy for a dog is proverbial. And the magazine, The New Yorker, recently illustrated it with a little anecdote.

A youngster has just returned home after a summer at a boys' camp. When his parents asked him if he were not glad to be back he shook his head meditatively; then he added, "But some of the fellows were—they've got dogs."

All of which, somehow, is a reminder that the fate of the lad who lives in a city is apt to be a hard one, from the dog-owning aspect. For the city is no place for a dog. The boy whose parents have established their home in an apartment cannot have a dog; or, if he does, half the fun of it will be missing, since dogs were designed by nature to accompany small boys on those aimless rambles through woodland and meadow which are the priceless heritage of all boys lucky enough to live in or near the open country.

Yet that isn't the dog's only function. Chiefly he is a comforter; and while the woes of the world may not seem to rest very heavily on the average boy's shoulders, anyone who can recall his own boyhood will remember that there can be moments in which a lad of 10 or 12 is the most melancholy mortal alive.

These spells of melancholy usually come from trivial causes—such as failure to "make" a neighborhood football team, or the loss of a prized jack knife, or a sudden harsh word from an adult. But while they last they are extremely real, and if a youngster hasn't someone to turn to he has a pretty bad hour or so.

And there is where the dog does his best work. The small boy is inarticulate; he can't explain things so that any grown-up can understand, and there isn't much any grown-up can say that will do much good. But a dog can do the job in jig time.

For the dog doesn't need to be told what is the matter, and he has no good advice to hand out. He is simply there, with a wagging tail and a wet nose; and in a few minutes the boy feels better and perceives that life, after all, is worth living.

That is the sort of thing that the city chap is apt to miss. If the world were shaped to boyhood's liking there would be room for a dog in every house.

WHO KILLED COCK ROBIN?---

A writer in an influential business magazine complains that politics has revealed its utter incapacity for handling the problems raised by the depression. Indeed, he finds politics "one of the chief obstacles to an early recovery," because the business world is trembling with uncertainty over the relief measures which Congress will consider this winter.

All of this may be very true; but it would be quite possible to make out a good case for the exact opposite of this charge. No one can say that the political world has not given business a free hand in the last 12 months or so. The business leaders who have distinguished themselves by showing ability to bring back prosperity to the nation are not exactly too numerous to mention. If the approaching Congress does consider ill-advised remedial legislation it will only be because the business world has had almost nothing in the way of a solution of its own to offer the public.

CAPONE PROVES HIMSELF A SAP---

Al Capone may have been the head of the racketeers for a good many years, but—if the testimony offered in his defense at his Chicago trial is to be believed—he was a rather large-sized sucker, just the same.

Defense witnesses have asserted that Capone lost more than $200,000 in three years betting on the races; and this bit of news ought to puncture, finally and forever, the legend that underworld kings are men of sound intelligence.

With Capone, doubtless, it was a case of easy come, easy go. Nevertheless, a man who persists in playing the ponies the way Capone played them seems to be nothing more or less than a common, every-day sap.

Fluctuating currency is confusing and but one standard of measurement is satisfactory. Canadian currency goes up and down with changes in value every twenty-four hours, with the result that the real worth of money cannot be told from day to day. Fluctuations are not great but they create an uneasy feeling in the minds of those who must exchange their merchandise or produce and it is baffling to keep track of the different prices from one day to another. As a near neighbor Minnesota folks feel the effects of changes in money values and will hope for the early arrival of a day when every form of money in circulation in Canada will be worth just its purported value as expressed by the figures thereon. Just now every receiver of Canadian currency must figure his own differences in exchange or have the banks look after the matter for him.

When Professor Robert A. Millikan remarks that the new discoveries about cosmic rays are apt to change the world's ideas on the origin and destiny of the universe, he simply emphasizes the fact that new realms of knowledge are opening up these days faster than their significance can be appreciated. A few decades ago it was felt that science had come fairly close to a final understanding of matter. The limits to the possibilities of human knowledge were not far off.

Then came a host of new discoveries that revealed a whole series of new horizons beyond what had been thought to be the final one. Dr. Millikan's discovery of the cosmic rays is only one among a group. Science is facing new mysteries infinitely more profound than the ones it believed it had solved a generation ago.

Hard times may have lessened the number of motorists in the United States but the number of traffic fatalities continues to go up. Figures compiled by the Travelers Insurance Company show that more than 24,000 people were killed in automobile accidents in the United States during the first nine months of this year—the largest number ever recorded for a similar period. If the rate is continued until the end of December the total fatality list for the nation in 1931 will be around 35,000.

A more damning indictment of our present methods of handling automobile traffic would be hard to find. The worst of it is that, as usual, we shall probably talk a great deal about it—and do absolutely nothing. And next year the death list will be higher than ever.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Old MRS. JUPITER, wife of the millionaire automobile manufacturer, gives an engagement dinner and dance for her secretary, MARY HARKNESS, who is to marry DIRK RUTHER, blue-blooded young lawyer.

Mary receives a telephone call from her seagoing brother, EDDIE, saying he is in trouble and must see her. The house is strictly guarded against "gate-crashers" because Mrs. Jupiter is wearing the famous Jupiter rubies.

Mary arranges for Eddie to be admitted secretly. When she goes upstairs to meet him she finds Mrs. Jupiter robbed and murdered in her room. Seeking Dirk, she finds him with CORNELIA TABOR, his childhood sweetheart.

Dirk advises her to keep silent about Eddie until he can locate the boy.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER V

It was Dirk's voice—tired, rather, but blessedly his. Mary went weak with joy.

"I've got word of—the person we were speaking of," he said. "I'll see you at three o'clock. Can you be ready to go with me then?"

"Oh, Dirk, of course! Then it's all right? Everything's all right?"

"I don't know that," he hedged. "I haven't talked with him. Better not say anything to anybody yet. Well, I'm going home and get some sleep now, and I'll be around for you at a quarter of three, sharp. See you then."

Three o'clock. If she could just keep her own counsel until then. Somehow she could not bear to face Mr. Jupiter with the knowledge of what she was holding back. "So far there has been nothing—nothing!" There was something—not much, perhaps, but something. She would feel better when the strain of waiting was over, when Mr. Jupiter knew.

She was almost fatalistic about it now. She knew that sooner or later someone would interrogate Bessie, if they had not already done so, and that in all probability Bessie would tell frankly about the side door she had left unlocked at Mary's request. She ought to speak to Bessie.

But something held her back. Pride, of a sort. She could lie herself but she could not ask Bessie to lie. Intrigue with a house-maid would be humiliating at best. Perhaps Inspector Kane was so busy he would forget about Bessie. But as she passed the library door she saw Kane there with Mr. Jupiter and the lawyer, talking with a fourth man who had his back to the door. She recognized with a start that it was Tom, the chauffeur.

TOM was shaking his head with great positiveness.

"I'd take my oath on it," he said, "that it was the same car. Three times it came in and went 'round the circle, in the space of half an hour."

"You'd know it again if you saw it?"

"I would. A black body with aluminum trimmings and aluminum hood. Mr. Jupiter called our attention to it, that's why I noticed it. A guy was driving it, but I didn't see his face."

"Nobody in it?"

"Nobody in it that I could see." The detective made a rapid note.

"Lorimer. Special body." The chauffeur nodded.

"All right, Tom. You can go." The group of newspapermen waiting in the dining-room, where sleepy-eyed servants had laid a buffet supper at Mr. Jupiter's order, were ushered into the library next. Mary would have slipped away but Inspector Kane, spying her as he greeted the men on their entrance, summoned her with a nod.

"Come in, will you please, Miss Harkness? We need a rose among

Kane watched the girl's white face with obvious relish of the impression he was creating.

all these thorns."

The newspapermen eyed her curiously; she felt as overpowered with shyness as if she had suddenly been thrust out on a stage, alone. But they behaved toward her with the most formal courtesy.

Kane jumped into the middle of his discourse. Evidently he had gone over most of it with them individually before.

"So as I said before to you boys, I'm convinced the crook who did this was an amateur and a bungler. I haven't changed my mind."

"Bungler!" someone snorted sarcastically.

Kane raised his voice. "Bungler, I said. And why? Because he'll have to take the rap for murder, that's why. Any jewel thief who knew the A B C of the business could have got those jewels and never left a mark on the old lady."

Remembering the presence of Mr. Jupiter, he lowered his voice somewhat as if to soften what he had to say.

"But how did he get in?" somebody asked.

KANE waved him down. "He got in, didn't he? We'll get around to that. Two Pinkerton men looked over the guests as they came in and there wasn't a 'mug' in the lot. But they left at midnight."

"But let's get on. As I say, Mrs. Jupiter's feet hurt and she went upstairs to her room on the third floor to give 'em a little rest. That tallies because she had on house-slippers when she was found. Her maid was downstairs looking after the women guests. The thief was either hiding in a closet, or in the next room, or else he came in after she did. He steps out, throws a gun on her, and tells her to hand over the jewels. But the old lady was game. She wouldn't give them up.

"Now! How do I know the guy was an amateur? Because first off he grabs her rings and the diamond ti-ayra. Diamonds are flashy, and any fool knows what they're worth. But rubies," he broke off to ask, "any of you ever seen the Jupiter necklace?"

There was shaking of heads. "Pictures of it," one man admitted.

"Well, then you know it doesn't look like so much. You'd never think to look at it that $500,000 wouldn't buy it. A cool half a million! That's money, in any language. But just to look at, why, say, my wife's got a string of pearls I bought her for Christmas that knocks the spots off it for looks!"

"Taking a little graft, Kane?" somebody snickered. Kane overlooked the raillery.

"Now, the way I figure it, this guy don't have any real idea of the value of that necklace or he wouldn't have fooled with the other stuff. Here's what he did: he pocketed the diamonds, and made a pass at the necklace. Now, any crook smart enough to know a ruby from an agate knows that a valuable string of any kind don't depend on no catch that's gonna come apart with a jerk. A woman can't lose a necklace nowadays. They've all got patent catches. This guy was new and he was scared, for when the old lady refused to hand over the necklace it rattled him. He tried to snatch it and she held it up in her hands, tight. He curses her and she runs to the balcony and he lets her have it. Now, why would he do that?"

"He must have thought the upper floor was deserted or he wouldn't have been there. And if somebody did hear her scream and came in, what difference would that make? If he'd been a regular stick up that knew his job he'd have stood them up against the wall and made a getaway just the same, cool as you please.

"No, that guy had a nervous trigger finger. I might go so far as to say he was yellow, clear through. Maybe he monkeyed with the catch and couldn't open it, as the old lady lay on the floor—we'll know when we get the fingerprint man's report. But the chances are he didn't, for he didn't have time. Miss Harkness thinks she didn't scream, but she isn't sure. She probably made a sound of some kind. Then it couldn't have been more than a minute before she came in and the man was gone. When Miss Harkness came in and when she went out, the lights were on, full and bright. She didn't make a search, naturally, and it's a good thing she didn't, for Miss Harkness," he turned to the girl, "you can take my word for it the murderer was still in that room, all the time you were there!"

HE watched the girl's white face with obvious relish of the impression he was creating.

"The butler answered Mrs. Jupiter's bell that had just rung a minute before he met Miss Harkness at the foot of the stairs. When the butler entered the room, it was dark. He switched on the lights himself."

"I don't get you, Sergeant," somebody commented. "Who rang the buzzer—Miss Harkness?"

"No. He did. The thief did. The push-button that summons the servants is right next the light switch. In trying to turn out the lights to cover his getaway he missed the light switch the first time and rang the buzzer by mistake."

"We've got the story of a chap named Doulton that he went out through the grounds. Matter of fact, he ran into Doulton and nearly knocked him down. He must have climbed up and come in by the balcony. There's footprints below. No evidence on the balcony rail or the wall to prove it, but that's the most likely thing."

"Doulton get a look at him?" Kane looked distressed. "I regret to say that Mr. Doulton was more than a trifle drunk."

"Any fingerprints?"

"None so far. But I've got another witness that saw him probably. Saw him plain. Can identify him. But I'll tell you boys frankly that I don't think his life would be worth a nickel if I told you who he was."

One of the men—he was the veteran police reporter for the Star—asked slowly, "Saw him before or after the shooting?"

Kane hesitated. "Before," he admitted finally.

There was some talk about the exact value of the jewels, a request to photograph the necklace. And in a remarkably short time, the newspapermen had all left the house.

Only the man from the Star hung back, while his photographer went upstairs to "shoot" the necklace. "You know, you sound to me, Inspector, as if you had already made up your mind who did this. Am I right, or wrong?" he asked.

"And if I had," barked Kane disconcerted, "would I spring it to you guys? What you'll print anyhow may put him wise till I'll never be able to lay a finger on him."

"Ah, the old alibi," chided the Star man. He lowered his voice. "How about telephone calls into the house last night? Have you traced 'em?"

STATE TO OPEN BIDS NOV. 10 FOR RIVER SPAN AT BRAINERD

WORK TO BE STARTED IN
SPRING; 1932 PROGRAM
IS PLANNED

As the state highway department today opened bids at St. Paul on one large group of projects to be started this fall, Commissioner C. N. Babcock called for bids on the first of the 1932 paving program.

The call for bids was on about 109 miles of concrete roadway as well as for bids on a 610 foot concrete arch bridge over the Mississippi at Brainerd.

The bids will be opened Nov. 10. All of the highway projects are extensions of existing pavement for connecting links between pavements. Bids will be obtained this fall and contracts will be let so that the contractors may make their plans for the work as soon as the frost is out of the ground in spring.

Among the projects in the list for Nov. 10 is the unfinished gap in trunk highway No. 3 through the Cannon Valley west of Red Wing. This is a stretch of 7.7 miles. The Lake City-Wabasha section is to be let later, Babcock said and when finished will give a concrete surface on this highway from La Crosse to Alexandria.

Trunk highway No. 7 is to be paved from Eyota to the Arches, west of Winona. It is now paved from Eyota to Waseca. Trunk highway No. 20 will be paved from Pine Island to Rochester, 16.4 miles and No. 8 from Deer River to La Prairie, 6.4 miles.

Hoover's Son to Work in Low Clerical Post

Los Angeles, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Allan Hoover, younger son of President Hoover, went to work today in "a lower clerical position" in the Security First National Bank of Los Angeles.

The chairman of the board of directors of the bank is Henry M. Robinson, a political and personal friend of the president. He said young Hoover "started at the bottom" of his own desire and that his promotion will depend upon his own industry and ability.

"Allan Hoover has been employed because we believe he meets the qualifications of this bank as to education, character, personality, health and ambition," said Herbert H. Smock, vice-president of the bank, in a formal statement.

POWER PROPOSAL TO KEEP MILL AT WORK

Johnson's Letters Quoted
The letters were read by City Clerk Mrs. E. T. Fleener to the council while Johnson, present at the meeting, enlarged upon their contents.

The letters herewith follow:
Letter dated Oct. 14—
"Due to lack of rainfall and the drawing off of water from the reservoirs in the Upper Mississippi river and other things beyond our control, we find ourselves confronted with a serious problem of developing power for running our paper mill in Brainerd."

"A year ago we appealed to the Water and Light Board for power over the city's line. This was freely granted and we were able to get through the winter in very good shape. About two weeks ago we asked for a renewal of this agreement and that was also granted us. Present indications prove conclusively to us that we will not be able to operate during the coming winter on the current we can get over the city's line without doing great damage to the city's service in East Brainerd. We want to operate our mill as nearly full time as is possible as we are interested in Brainerd and feel a moral obligation in giving our men as much work as we can."

"We therefore ask that city of Brainerd to grant us a franchise or right of way over a certain route within the city limits. Your engineer, Robert Campbell, can explain this route from the city charter."

"We request that your honorable body give favorable consideration of this plan and if possible pass upon it at this meeting so that it will not cause undue delay in the construction of this line and interference in the operation of the mill."

"If we are not able to secure power from some source other than water power, we will be forced to close down the mill for the winter months. This we realize would be a hardship on Brainerd as well as on ourselves."

Letter dated Oct. 16:

"Referring to our letter of Oct. 14 in regard to granting The Northwest Paper Co. the right to construct a power transmission line along the city streets in Brainerd we find that it would probably not be possible for the city of Brainerd to grant this right to

The Northwest Paper Co. but the same purpose may be accomplished by granting to the Minnesota Power and Light Co. the right to construct and maintain the line for the sole purpose of furnishing power to the Northwest Paper Co."

"We are going to present a proposed form of ordinance granting this right to the Minnesota Power and Light Co. for introduction at the meeting of the council on Monday, Oct. 19 and for all the reasons urged in our letter of Oct. 14 we bespeak your cooperation toward the passage of this ordinance which will enable the paper mill to carry on during the winter as stated in our letter of Oct. 14."

Doan said that in his belief The Northwest Paper Co. would stand the expense of transformers and sub stations.

City's Power Rate

Under the present contract of the city with the Minnesota Power and Light Co. which expires on November 12, 1934 the city now pays 2.34 cents per kilowatt for the first 800,000 kilowatts used during the year and 2 cents for all additional kilowatt used during the year.

Local Druggists Supplied With Free Sample Packages Of Two New Vick Products

Desire of Makers That Every User of Vicks VapoRub Have a
Free Trial of New Vicks Nose and Throat Drops
and Vicks Medicated Cough Drops.

RESULT OF RESEARCH

New Discovery Makes Possible
New Vick Plan of Home-
Control of Colds.

REDUCES "COLD-TAX"

A quarter century ago Vicks VapoRub introduced the modern and better method of treating colds—externally. Now Vicks Chemists develop a new preparation—Vicks Nose & Throat Drops—based on a new idea in preventing colds. "A perfect ally to VapoRub it makes possible the new Vick Plan for better Control of Colds in the home—and further reduction of the family "Cold-Tax."

Here is the Plan:

1.—Before a Cold Starts.

On exposure to colds or any of the causes that ordinarily lead to colds—crowded indoor places—stuffy poorly ventilated rooms—sudden temperature changes—wet and cold—that slow down the normal functioning of the nose Nature's marvelous "first line of defense against colds" us Vicks Drops promptly. Or if a cold actually threatens—when you feel that first stuffy sneezy irritation of the nasal passages—a few drops up each nostril, and many annoying colds will be avoided.

2.—When a Cold Strikes

Use the convenient Vicks Drops during the day—anytime, any place—as often as needed for comfort and relief. At bedtime, rub Vicks VapoRub well over throat and chest and cover with warm flannel. Leave bed-clothing loose around the neck so the medicated vapors can be inhaled all night long. This Vick Plan gives you a full 24-hour treatment. (If there is a cough, you will like another new Vick product—Vicks Cough Drops—actually medicated with ingredients of Vicks VapoRub.)

Trial Packages Free

In order that every user of Vicks VapoRub may try the two new Vicks products now being introduced, a supply of free trial packages of each has been sent to every druggist in the United States. Go to your druggist today and ask for yours. If, by any chance his supply is exhausted, send us the top of a Vicks VapoRub carton—or coupon from the VapoRub directions folder—and we will mail free samples direct to you, together with a folder on the new Vick Plan for Control of Colds in the home. CLINKERS? not when you burn

FORD COAL

PRODUCT OF THE FORD MOTOR COMPANY

SOME kinds of coal make clinkers more easily than others because the ash melts at relatively low temperatures—melts and runs together to form the hard, flinty clinkers that clog your grate. A quality inherent in Ford Coal prevents clinkering. That inherent quality is the high fusion-point, or melting-point, of the ash.

When you fire Ford Coal properly, it burns cleanly and leaves a small amount of light ash.

And it gives good, substantial heat, because of the high percentage of fixed carbon. In every way Ford Coal is a "high-test" coal, coming from mines selected by the Ford Motor Company for the extra quality of the fuel.

It is clean coal, too—picked free of impurities under strict Ford supervision. Carefully screened and graded for size. Economical to buy; economical to burn. Order a load of Ford Coal today!

THE northern tier of states, between the great lakes and the Pacific, and the Northern Pacific Railway, in their half century of development, have been sympathetic allies.

The network of railway lines that has been built has become a living artery for commerce, trade, industry, and production in this great area. To stimulate the growth of factories, greater yields from the soil, the employment and contentment of the people, always have been functions of pioneer transportation systems, and particularly has this been true of the Northern Pacific—first of the Northern transcontinentals.

The arms of the Northern Pacific reach out today as they did a half century ago, in fullest co-operation with the emigrant, the farmer, the manufacturer, the merchandiser, and, in fact, with all of the great diversified population. The Northern Pacific contributes consistently, energetically, and earnestly to the upbuilding of the territory it serves.

STATE TO OPEN BIDS NOV. 10 FOR RIVER SPAN AT BRAINERD

WORK TO BE STARTED IN
SPRING; 1932 PROGRAM
IS PLANNED

As the state highway department today opened bids at St. Paul on one large group of projects to be started this fall, Commissioner C. N. Babcock called for bids on the first of the 1932 paving program.

The call for bids was on about 189 miles of concrete roadway as well as for bids on a 610 foot concrete arch bridge over the Mississippi at Brainerd.

The bids will be opened Nov. 10. All of the highway projects are extensions of existing pavement for connecting links between pavements. Bids will be obtained this fall and contracts will be let so that the contractors may make their plans for the work as soon as the frost is out of the ground in spring.

Among the projects in the list for Nov. 10 is the unfinished gap in trunk highway No. 3 through the Cannon Valley west of Red Wing. This is a stretch of 7.7 miles. The Lake City-Wabasha section is to be let later. Babcock said and when finished will give a concrete surface on this highway from La Crosse to Alexandria.

Trunk highway No. 7 is to be paved from Eyota to the Arches, west of Winona. It is now paved from Eyota to Waseca. Trunk highway No. 20 will be paved from Pine Island to Rochester, 16.4 miles and No. 8 from Deer River to La Prairie, 6.4 miles.

Hoover's Son to Work in Low Clerical Post

Los Angeles, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Allan Hoover, younger son of President Hoover, went to work today in "a lower clerical position" in the Security First National Bank of Los Angeles.

The chairman of the board of directors of the bank is Henry M. Robinson, a political and personal friend of the president. He said young Hoover "started at the bottom" of his own desire and that his promotion will depend upon his own industry and ability.

"Allan Hoover has been employed because we believe he meets the qualifications of this bank as to education, character, personality, health and ambition," said Herbert H. Smock, vice-president of the bank, in a formal statement.

POWER PROPOSAL TO HELP MILL AT WORK

Johnson's Letters Quoted
The letters were read by City Clerk Mrs. E. T. Fleener to the council while Johnson, present at the meeting, enlarged upon their contents.

The letters herewith follow:
Letter dated Oct. 14—
"Due to lack of rainfall and the drawing off of water from the reservoirs in the Upper Mississippi river and other things beyond our control, we find ourselves confronted with a serious problem of developing power for running our paper mill in Brainerd."

"A year ago we appealed to the Water and Light Board for power over the city's line. This was freely granted and we were able to get through the winter in very good shape. About two weeks ago we asked for a renewal of this agreement and that was also granted us. Present indications prove conclusively to us that we will not be able to operate during the coming winter on the current we can get over the city's line without doing great damage to the city's service in East Brainerd. We want to operate our mill as nearly full time as is possible as we are interested in Brainerd and feel a moral obligation in giving our men as much work as we can.

"We therefore ask that city of Brainerd to grant us a franchise or right of way over a certain route within the city limits. Your engineer, Robert Campbell, can explain this route from the city charter."

"We request that your honorable body give favorable consideration of this plan and if possible pass upon it at this meeting so that it will not cause undue delay in the construction of this line and interference in the operation of the mill."

"If we are not able to secure power from some source other than water power, we will be forced to close down the mill for the winter months. This we realize would be a hardship on Brainerd as well as on ourselves."

Letter dated Oct. 16:

"Referring to our letter of Oct. 14 in regard to granting The Northwest Paper Co. the right to construct a power transmission line along the city streets in Brainerd we find that it would probably not be possible for the city of Brainerd to grant this right to

The Northwest Paper Co. but the same purpose may be accomplished by granting to the Minnesota Power and Light Co. the right to construct and maintain the line for the sole purpose of furnishing power to the Northwest Paper Co.

"We are going to present a proposed form of ordinance granting this right to the Minnesota Power and Light Co. for introduction at the meeting of the council on Monday, Oct. 19 and for all the reasons urged in our letter of Oct. 14 we bespeak your cooperation toward the passage of this ordinance which will enable the paper mill to carry on during the winter as stated in our letter of Oct. 14."

Doan said that in his belief The Northwest Paper Co. would stand the expense of transformers and sub stations.

City's Power Rate

Under the present contract of the city with the Minnesota Power and Light Co. which expires on November 12, 1934 the city now pays 2 3/8 cents per kilowatt for the first 800,000 kilowatts used during the year and 2 cents for all additional kilowatt used during the year.

Local Druggists Supplied With Free Sample Packages Of Two New Vick Products

Desire of Makers That Every User of Vicks VapoRub Have a
Free Trial of New Vicks Nose and Throat Drops
and Vicks Medicated Cough Drops.

RESULT OF RESEARCH

New Discovery Makes Possible
New Vick Plan of Home-
Control of Colds.

REDUCES "COLD-TAX"

A quarter century ago Vicks VapoRub introduced the modern and better method of treating colds—externally. Now Vick Chemists develop a new preparation—Vicks Nose & Throat Drops—based on a new idea in preventing colds. A perfect ally to VapoRub it makes possible the new Vick Plan for better Control of Colds in the home—and further reduction of the family "Cold-Tax."

Here is the Plan:

1.—Before a Cold Starts.

On exposure to colds or any of the causes that ordinarily lead to colds—crowded indoor places—stuffy poorly ventilated rooms—sudden temperature changes—wet and cold)—that slow down the normal functioning of the nose Nature's marvelous "first line of defense against colds"—use Vicks Drops promptly. Or if a cold actually threatens—when you feel that first stuffy sneezy irritation of the nasal passages—a few drops up each nostril, and many annoying colds will be avoided.

2.—When a Cold Strikes

Use the convenient Vicks Drops during the day—anytime, any place—as often as needed for comfort and relief. At bedtime, rub Vicks VapoRub well over throat and chest and cover with warm flannel. Leave bed-clothing loose around the neck so the medicated vapors can be inhaled all night long. This Vick Plan gives you a full 24-hour treatment. (If there is a cough, you will like another new Vick product—Vicks Cough Drops—actually medicated with ingredients of Vicks VapoRub.)

Trial Packages Free

In order that every user of Vicks VapoRub may try the two new Vicks products now being introduced, a supply of free trial packages of each has been sent to every druggist in the United States. Go to your druggist today and ask for yours. If, by any chance his supply is exhausted, send us the top of a Vicks VapoRub carton—or coupon from the VapoRub directions folder—and we will mail free samples direct to you, together with a folder on the new Vick Plan for Control of Colds in the home. Address: Vick Chemical Co., 1001 Milton St., Greensboro, N. C.

OHIO STATE DEVELOPS CONTENDER FOR BIG TEN TITLE

FIRST TIME IN FIVE YEARS THAT OHIO HAS SHOWN POWER

LAST CHAMPIONSHIP TEAM WAS UNDER DR. JOHN WILCE IN 1920

Chicago, Oct. 20.—(UP)—For the first time since 1926 Ohio State has developed a formidable contender for the Big Ten football championship.

Five years ago a 17-16 defeat at the hands of Michigan prevented Ohio State from winning the title and now a new Buckeye team, given impetus by a 20-7 triumph over the Wolverines, is threatening to climb back to the top of the Western conference.

Ohio State hasn't had a championship team since 1920 when Dr. John Wilce's wonder team with its flare of winning games in the last few minutes of play annexed the title.

Ohio State's path to the Big Ten title is strewn with difficulties. Not only must the Buckeyes defeat last year's co-champions of the Big Ten on successive Saturdays, but they have to conquer Indiana, Wisconsin and Illinois. Wisconsin established itself as one of the strongest teams in the conference by upsetting Purdue last week, 21-14, and Illinois' sophomore team promises to be considerably stronger in November than it is now.

Coach Sam Willaman's team successfully passed its first hurdle in defeating Michigan, but the Buckeyes have to put on more power for their real test Saturday against Northwestern, last of the unbeaten pre-season favorites.

The Ohio State-Northwestern battle promises to be an important October game in the Big Ten, and may possibly determine the title. If Northwestern wins, the Wildcats have a comparatively easy schedule ahead of them, meeting Illinois, Minnesota, Indiana and Iowa in that order.

On their records to date, Northwestern seems to hold an edge over Ohio State, but neither team has opened up with all its resources. Vanderbilt defeated Ohio State two weeks ago, 26-21, making four touchdowns in the first half, two of them on bad generalship and misdirected passes by a second-string Buckeye quarterback. The Buckeyes proved their courage by coming back in the last half to score three touchdowns and almost pulled the game out of the fire.

The records of the two teams to date follow:

Northwestern:
19 Nebraska 7.
0 Notre Dame 0.
19 U. C. L. A. 0.
38 opponents 7.
Ohio State:
67 Cincinnati 6.
21 Vanderbilt 26.
20 Michigan 7.
108 opponents 39.

LOUIS HANSON ROLLS 640 FOR NEW THREE GAME TEN PIN RECORD HERE

Louis Hanson set up a new three game record in city league ten pin bowling last night.

Hanson topped the maples for 193, 210 and 237 pins and was largely responsible for his team, the Alderman-Maghan five, winning two from the E. M. B. A.

In the other games of the evening the Brainos took three from the Northeast Business Men.

High single games were rolled by Hanson and DeRocher, 237 and 235 respectively. Boyd piled up a 626 total for three games.

Tonight the Study Club will meet. Mills Motor and N. E. will clash with the Peterson Clothing.

SHIFTS STARS IN PREPARATION FOR GAME WITH OREGON

COACH WEST REVAMPS NORTH DAKOTA U. LINEUP FOR NEXT GAME

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Settling two of the University of North Dakota stars into new positions in preparation for the football game Saturday with the University of Oregon.

occupied Coach C. A. West's major time this week.

For the game, considered the most important on the schedule of the north central champions, Captain John Burma was shifted to the left halfback post where he will be depended upon for many of his unstopable runs that have smothered competition in other games this year.

Ralph Pierce, speedy halfback who was injured last week, will be replaced by Burma. It was the 190 pound Burma who scored two touchdowns in less than 10 minutes against South Dakota State last week.

Lloyd Richmond, veteran blocking back, has been shifted to the line crashing role after having a try at the fullback position last week from which he scored against South Dakota State.

Richmond's line plunging and fine kicking has earned him a total of 64 points, one of the best records in the country. Several sophomore prospects are expected to see service in the tough game with the proteges of Dr. Clarence Spears from the west coast.

FIGHT RESULTS

(By United Press)

At New York—Victorio Cmapolo knocked out Ralph Ficucello in the 8th round of a scheduled 10-rounder; Mateo Osa of Spain drew with Ted Sandwina of Germany (10).

At Jamaica, N. Y.—Ray Miller of Chicago knocked out Solly Ritz of Brooklyn in the first round of a scheduled 8-rounder.

At Cleveland—Billy Wallace, 135, Cleveland, won decision over Lou Severo, 135, Cleveland (6); Joe Zeman, Cleveland, light heavyweight, decision over K. O. Husk, Akron (6); Dick O'Leary, Wilkesbarre, Pa., featherweight, decision over Al Mason, Youngstown (6); Mickey Doyle, Scranton, Pa., junior lightweight, decision over U. S. Carpenter, Pittsburgh (6).

At Wheeling, W. Va.—Gene Stanton, 205, Cleveland, scored technical knockout over Tiny Powell, 225, Akron (6); Lynn Jordan, 160, Akron, decision over Johnny Dunn, 166, Cleveland (6).

At Chicago—Harry Ebbs, 168, Freeport, L. I., won an 8-round decision over Buck Easterling, 183, Fichita, Kan.; Dick Evans, 161, Youngstown, O., defeated Bud Saltis, 159½, Chicago, in 8 rounds; Matt Adgie, 174½, Philadelphia, scored a technical knockout over Marion Matuszack, 188, Chicago, in two rounds.

At Cedar Rapids, Iowa—Tommy Grogan, 145, Omaha, Neb., outpointed Billy Hoon, Rock Island, welterweight (10).

At Des Moines—Bearcat Wright, 210, Omaha, knocked out Tom Havel, 198, St. Paul (5); Baeze Carnera, 175, Des Moines, decision Snub Canwaay, Davenport, Ia., 178 (6); Johnny O'Hara, 155, St. Paul, won by a technical knockout from Battling Burner, 160, Lost Nation, Ia. (3); Pep Jennings, 115, Des Moines, decision Freddie Penn, 119, Omaha (6).

at least, to help Head Coach Harry Kipke rouse the Michigan football team out of its lethargy in preparation for the Illinois game Saturday at Urbana. An hour was spent yesterday in rehearsing scoring plays inside the 5-yard line.

On the Sidelines

Madison, Wis., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Wisconsin survived its hard-won battle with Purdue in good shape and will have its full strength available for Saturday's intersectional game against Pennsylvania at Philadelphia. The Badgers will depart Thursday.

Iowa City, Iowa, Oct. 20.—(UP)—The Iowa freshmen, using Minnesota plays, were scheduled to scrimmage against the Hawkeyes' varsity team today. Randall Hickman, Iowa halfback who played himself out against Indiana, will be in good shape for the Gophers.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Dissatisfied with Indiana's showing against Iowa last week, Coach E. C. Hayes plans to drive the Hoosiers hard this week in an effort to build up a scoring machine for Saturday's game against Chicago. Several shifts may be made in the Indiana backfield.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Coach Nobel Kizer plans to make several changes in the Purdue lineup for the Carnegie Tech game Saturday as a result of the Wisconsin defeat and the large list of injured players on the Boilermakers' squad. Letsinger, guard, has a broken bone in his hand; Alex Yunevich, fullback, has a strained shoulder; Roy Horstman, fullback, has a dislocated elbow; and Jack White, quarterback, has a charley horse; and Jim Purvis, halfback, has an injured shoulder.

at least, to help Head Coach Harry Kipke rouse the Michigan football team out of its lethargy in preparation for the Illinois game Saturday at Urbana. An hour was spent yesterday in rehearsing scoring plays inside the 5-yard line.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—(UP)—Chicago's prospects for a victory over Indiana Saturday took another turn for the worse yesterday when the freshmen team held the varsity to a 7-7 tie. Coach A. A. Staggs has found little in the Maroons' exhibition this season to cheer him except the play of Pete Simmer, sophomore back.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Illinois revamped lineup with Gil Berry at quarterback probably will start against Michigan Saturday. Coach Bob Zupke scouted the Michigan-Ohio State game and in yesterday's practice outlined several plays which he expects will prove ground gainers against the Wolverines.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Coach Heartley Anderson expects one of Notre Dame's hardest games of the season when Pittsburgh invades South Bend Saturday. Anderson rates Pittsburgh's line as stronger than Northwestern's, basing his opinion on information brought back to him by Notre Dame scouts.

Evansville, Ill., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Two of Northwestern's stellar sophomore backs, George Potter and Ollie Olson, are nursing injuries but both are expected to be ready for the Ohio State game Saturday. Potter has a charley horse and Olson has an infected leg.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Athletic Director Fielding H. Yost has returned to the gridiron, temporarily

at least, to help Head Coach Harry Kipke rouse the Michigan football team out of its lethargy in preparation for the Illinois game Saturday at Urbana. An hour was spent yesterday in rehearsing scoring plays inside the 5-yard line.

Hockey Stars Hold Lead in Bicycle Race

Montreal, Oct. 20.—(UP)—Henri Lepage and Torihy Peden, speeding representatives of the Canadian Hockey club, held a one-lap lead in Montreal's fifth international six-day bicycle race as the nine teams went into their 22nd hour of riding last night.

Peden and Lepage swept to the front in a series of spectacular jams in the afternoon and retained their margin in another period of jamming that began shortly after 8:30 p. m.

The Canadian Hockey club due was one lap ahead of four teams that were deadlocked in second place.

Aged Tree's Fruit Wins Prize
Memphis, Tenn.—(UP)—Willis Hilliard, apple orchardist of Hickman County, Ky., won a first prize at the Midsouth Fair here recently with fruit that was grown on a 29-year-old apple tree. Hilliard and his son, Calvin B. Hilliard, have been fruit show exhibitors for more than a quarter century.

Five years ago a 17-16 defeat at the hands of Michigan prevented Ohio State from winning the title and now a new Buckeye team, given impetus by a 20-7 triumph over the Wolverines, is threatening to climb back to the top of the Western conference.

Ohio State hasn't had a championship team since 1920 when Dr. John Wilce's wonder team with its flare of winning games in the last few minutes of play annexed the title.

Ohio State's path to the Big Ten title is strewn with difficulties. Not only must the Buckeyes defeat last year's co-champions of the Big Ten on successive Saturdays, but they have to conquer Indiana, Wisconsin and Illinois. Wisconsin established itself as one of the strongest teams in the conference by upsetting Purdue last week, 21-14, and Illinois' sophomore team promises to be considerably stronger in November than it is now.

Coach Sam Willaman's team successfully passed its first hurdle in defeating Michigan, but the Buckeyes have to put on more power for their real test Saturday against Northwestern, last of the unbeaten pre-season favorites.

The Ohio State-Northwestern battle promises to be an important October game in the Big Ten, and may possibly determine the title. If Northwestern wins, the Wildcats have a comparatively easy schedule ahead of them, meeting Illinois, Minnesota, Indiana and Iowa in that order.

On their records to date, Northwestern seems to hold an edge over Ohio State, but neither team has opened up with all its resources. Vanderbilt defeated Ohio State two weeks ago, 26-21, making four touchdowns in the first half, two of them on bad generalship and misdirected passes by a second-string Buckeye quarterback. The Buckeyes proved their courage by coming back in the last half to score three touchdowns and almost pulled the game out of the fire.

The records of the two teams to date follow:

Northwestern:
19 Nebraska 7.
0 Notre Dame 0.
19 U. C. L. A. 0.
38 opponents 7.
Ohio State:
67 Cincinnati 6.
21 Vanderbilt 26.
20 Michigan 7.
108 opponents 39.

LOUIS HANSON ROLLS 640 FOR NEW THREE GAME TEN PIN RECORD HERE

Louis Hanson set up a new three game record in city league ten pin bowling last night.

Hanson toppled the maples for 193, 210 and 237 pins and was largely responsible for his team, the Alderman-Maghan five, winning two from the E. M. B. A.

In the other games of the evening the Brainos took three from the North-east Business Men.

High single games were rolled by Hanson and DeRocher, 237 and 235 respectively. Boyd piled up a 626 total for three games.

Tonight the Study Club will meet Mills Motor and N. E. will clash with the Peterson Clothing.

SHIFTS STARS IN PREPARATION FOR GAME WITH OREGON

COACH WEST REVAMPS NORTH DAKOTA U. LINEUP FOR NEXT GAME

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Settling two of the University of North Dakota stars into new positions in preparation for the football game Saturday with the University of Oregon occupied Coach C. A. West's major time this week.

For the game, considered the most important on the schedule of the north central champions, Captain John Burma was shifted to the left halfback post where he will be depended upon for many of his unstopable runs that have smothered competition in other games this year.

Ralph Pierce, speedy halfback who was injured last week, will be replaced by Burma. It was the 190 pound Burma who scored two touchdowns in less than 10 minutes against South Dakota State last week.

Lloyd Richmond, veteran blocking back, has been shifted to the line crashing role after having a try at the fullback position last week from which he scored against South Dakota State.

Richmond's line plunging and fine kicking has earned him a total of 64 points, one of the best records in the country. Several sophomore prospects are expected to see service in the tough game with the proteges of Dr. Clarence Spears from the west coast.

FIGHT RESULTS

(By United Press)

At New York—Victorio Cmapolo knocked out Ralph Ficuccio in the 8th round of a scheduled 10-rounder; Mateo Osa of Spain drew with Ted Sandwina of Germany (10).

At Jamaica, N. Y.—Ray Miller of Chicago knocked out Solly Ritz of Brooklyn in the first round of a scheduled 8-rounder.

At Cleveland—Billy Wallace, 135, Cleveland, won decision over Lou Severo, 135, Cleveland (6); Joe Zeman, Cleveland, light heavyweight, decision over K. O. Husk, Akron (6); Dick O'Leary, Wilkesbarre, Pa., featherweight, decision over Al Mason, Youngstown (6); Mickey Doyle, Scranton, Pa., junior lightweight, decision over U. S. Carpenter, Pittsburgh (6).

At Wheeling, W. Va.—Gene Stanton, 205, Cleveland, scored technical knockout over Tiny Powell, 225, Akron (6); Lynn Jordan, 160, Akron, decision over Johnny Dunn, 166, Cleveland (6).

At Chicago—Harry Ebbetts, 168, Freeport, L. I., won an 8-round decision over Buck Easterling, 183, Fitchita, Kan.; Dick Evans, 161, Youngstown, O., defeated Bud Saltis, 159½, Chicago, in 8 rounds; Matt Adgie, 174½, Philadelphia, scored a technical knockout over Marion Matuszak, 188, Chicago, in two rounds.

At Cedar Rapids, Iowa—Tommy Grogan, 145, Omaha, Neb., outpointed Billy Hoon, Rock Island, welterweight (10).

At Des Moines—Bearcat Wright, 210, Omaha, knocked out Tom Havel, 198, St. Paul (5); Baeze Carnera, 175, Des Moines, decision Snub Canway, Davenport, Ia., 178 (6); Johnny O'Hara, 155, St. Paul, won by a technical knockout from Battling Burner, 160, Lost Nation, Ia. (3); Pep Jennings, 115, Des Moines decision Freddie Penn, 119, Omaha (6).

Moines, decision Snub Canway, Davenport, Ia., 178 (6); Johnny O'Hara, 155, St. Paul, won by a technical knockout from Battling Burner, 160, Lost Nation, Ia. (3); Pep Jennings, 115, Des Moines decision Freddie Penn, 119, Omaha (6).

On the Sidelines

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Kenneth MacDougal, Minnesota's mid-get halfback, has a fractured hand which will handicap him in carrying the ball in the Iowa game this week. He hurt the hand in Saturday's scrimmage but it did not become known until yesterday.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Dissatisfied with Indiana's showing against Iowa last week, Coach E. C. Hayes plans to drive the Hoosiers hard this week in an effort to build up a scoring machine for Saturday's game against Chicago. Several shifts may be made in the Indiana backfield.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Coach Nobel Kizer plans to make several changes in the Purdue lineup for the Carnegie Tech game Saturday as a result of the Wisconsin defeat and the large list of injured players on the Boilermakers' squad. Letsinger, guard, has a broken bone in his hand; Alex Yunevich, fullback, has a strained shoulder; Roy Horstman, fullback, has a dislocated elbow; and Jack White, quarterback, has a charley horse; and Jim Purvis, halfback, has an injured shoulder.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Wisconsin survived its hard-won battle with Purdue in good shape and will have its full strength available for Saturday's intersectional game against Pennsylvania at Philadelphia. The Badgers will depart Thursday.

Iowa City, Iowa, Oct. 20.—(UP)—The Iowa freshmen, using Minnesota plays, were scheduled to scrimmage against the Hawkeyes' varsity team today. Randall Hickman, Iowa halfback who played himself out against Indiana, will be in good shape for the Gophers.

Columbus, O., Oct. 20.—(UP)—With Marshall Oliphant, star sophomore halfback who broke his ankle in the season's first game, expected to return to action Ohio State will have its strongest forces ready for Northwestern's invasion Saturday. He is a cousin of Elmer Oliphant, former all-American, who played at Purdue and West Point.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Athletic Director Fielding H. Yost has returned to the gridiron, temporarily

at least, to help Head Coach Harry Kipke rouse the Michigan football team out of its lethargy in preparation for the Illinois game Saturday at Urbana. An hour was spent yesterday in rehearsing scoring plays inside the 5-yard line.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Illinois revamped lineup with Gil Berry at quarterback probably will start against Michigan Saturday. Coach Bob Zupke scouted the Michigan-Ohio State game and in yesterday's practice outlined several plays which he expects will prove ground gainers against the Wolverines.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Coach Heartley Anderson expects one of Notre Dame's hardest games of the season when Pittsburgh invades South Bend Saturday. Anderson rates Pittsburgh's line as stronger than Northwestern's, basing his opinion on information brought back to him by Notre Dame scouts.

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 20.—(UP)—Two of Northwestern's stellar sophomore backs, George Potter and Ollie Olson, are nursing injuries but both are expected to be ready for the Ohio State game Saturday. Potter has a charley horse and Olson has an infected leg.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—(UP)—Chicago's prospects for a victory over Indiana

Saturday took another turn for the worse yesterday when the freshmen team held the varsity to a 7-7 tie. Coach A. A. Staggs has found little in the Maroons' exhibition this season to cheer him except the play of Pete Simmer, sophomore back.

Hockey Stars Hold Lead in Bicycle Race

Montreal, Oct. 20.—(UP)—Henri LePage and Torihy Peden, speeding representatives of the Canadian Hockey club, held a one-lap lead in Montreal's fifth international six-day bicycle race as the nine teams went into their 22nd hour of riding last night.

Peden and LePage swept to the front in a series of spectacular jams in the afternoon and retained their margin in another period of jamming that began shortly after 8:30 p. m. The Canadian Hockey club due was one lap ahead of four teams that were deadlocked in second place.

Aged Tree's Fruit Wins Prize

Memphis, Tenn.—(UP)—Willis Hilliard, apple orchardist of Hickman County, Ky., won a first prize at the Mid-south Fair here recently with fruit that was grown on a 29-year-old apple tree. Hilliard and his son, Calvin B. Hilliard, have been fruit show exhibitors for more than a quarter century.

BUS CO. TO MOVE DEPOT TO REAR OF SHERLUND GARAGE

COUNCIL GRANTS PERMISSION TO USE LOT WITH ENTRANCE ON FIFTH STREET

The Northland-Greyhound Transportation Co. and the city council came to an amiable agreement last night.

The council on motion of Aldermen W. J. Hall and Chris Elvig granted the bus company the right to move its depot from Eighth and Laurel streets to the lot in the rear of Sherlund's garage, Sixth street.

A. O. Olson, representative of the transportation company, said that when an agreement is reached the company will move to the rear of the garage. Entrance will be on Fifth St. Accommodations for the passengers will be provided, he said. Under the new plan buses will not be parked on the street, thus relieving parking congestion.

L. A. Rossman, Grand Rapids, speaking for the bus company asked for the goodwill of the council and suggested that the state be wiped clean of all differences. He said the company was willing to cooperate wholeheartedly with the council.

Rossman asked that under the circumstances the charge in municipal court against one of the company's drivers be dropped and suggested that the council use its influence.

City Attorney W. J. Swanson stated that he could not drop the case but would ask leniency when the driver was arraigned.

TWO BANK ATTACHES, BANDIT KILLED IN MENOMINEE RAID

the bandits after one of the bandits died from a bullet fired at their fleeing automobile.

Ed Krinkel, a witness to the holdup, claimed he heard one of the bandits cry out when he fired his rifle at the back of their car.

The holdup occurred at opening time today, 9 a. m. Four gunmen drove up in front of the bank and three of them entered. Two of the bandits inside the bank rifled cash drawers and vault of all the currency, estimated at $7,000.

While inside the bank, the three emphasized their commands with revolver shots. A crowd gathered outside the bank. One of the bandits produced a sub-machine gun from under his coat and ordered the crowd to stand away from the automobile and bank.

Apparently expecting to find more money, the bandits turned to William R. Kraft and demanded more. Kraft told them that they had obtained all the money in the bank.

One of those seized was James Kraft, the other was Mrs. A. W. Schaffer. Kraft was forced to climb into the automobile and the bandits fled.

Vernon Townsend, an armed guard who was stationed in the bank to prevent holdups, watched the whole robbery from his position in a little coop above the cages. But he was under strict orders from bank officials not to shoot inside the bank in case of robbery.

Accordingly he withheld his fire and after sounding the burglar alarm he crawled to the roof from where he shot at the bandits as they left. One bullet struck the gas tank of the robbers' car, Townsend believes. He was able to give a slight description of the two men who came inside. One, he said, was about six feet, five inches tall and wore no hat. The other was a younger man, about 25, the guard revealed.

NO BUILDING CODE IN BRAINERD UNTIL IT IS PUBLISHED

ATTORNEY SAYS ORDINANCE COULD NOT STAND UP IN COURT UNLESS PUBLISHED

Brainerd is operating without a legal building ordinance, City Attorney W. J. Swanson notified the city council last night when Alderman W. J. Hall brought up the matter of publishing an ordinance passed in 1924.

The building code has never been published and consequently can not stand up if fought in the courts, Swanson said.

The council has deferred publication of the ordinance, holding that the expense would be heavy.

"We've got too many ordinances now. The building code as it now stands was drawn up with the assistance of contractors who will abide by it whether it has been published or not," President V. E. Quamstrom said. No action was taken.

$1,500 Transferred From General to Poor Fund

On motion of Aldermen V. F. Anderson and W. J. Hall, the council last night ordered the transfer of $1,500 from the general fund to the poor fund to bring the latter out of the red.

BUS CO. TO MOVE DEPOT TO REAR OF SHERLUND GARAGE

COUNCIL GRANTS PERMISSION TO USE LOT WITH ENTRANCE ON FIFTH STREET

The Northland-Greyhound Transportation Co. and the city council came to an amiable agreement last night.

The council on motion of Aldermen W. J. Hall and Chris Elvig granted the bus company the right to move its depot from Eighth and Laurel streets to the lot in the rear of Sherlund's garage, Sixth street.

A. O. Olson, representative of the transportation company, said that when an agreement is reached the company will move to the rear of the garage. Entrance will be on Fifth St. Accommodations for the passengers will be provided, he said. Under the new plan buses will not be parked on the street, thus relieving parking congestion.

L. A. Rossman, Grand Rapids, speaking for the bus company asked for the goodwill of the council and suggested that the slate be wiped clean of all differences. He said the company was willing to cooperate wholeheartedly with the council.

Rossman asked that under the circumstances the charge in municipal court against one of the company's drivers be dropped and suggested that the council use its influence.

City Attorney W. J. Swanson stated that he could not drop the case but would ask leniency when the driver was arraigned.

TWO BANK ATTACKS, BANDIT KILLED IN MENOMINEE RAID

The bandits after one of the bandits died from a bullet fired at their fleeing automobile.

Ed Krinkel, a witness to the holdup, claimed he heard one of the bandits cry out when he fired his rifle at the back of their car.

The holdup occurred at opening time today, 9 a. m. Four gunmen drove up in front of the bank and three of them entered. Two of the bandits inside the bank rifled cash drawers and vault of all the currency, estimated at $7,000.

While inside the bank, the three emphasized their commands with revolver shots. A crowd gathered outside the bank. One of the bandits produced a sub-machine gun from under his coat and ordered the crowd to stand away from the automobile and bank.

Apparently expecting to find more money, the bandits turned to William R. Kraft and demanded more. Kraft told them that they had obtained all the money in the bank.

One of those seized was James Kraft, the other was Mrs. A. W. Schaffer. Kraft was forced to climb into the automobile and the bandits fled.

Vernon Townsend, an armed guard who was stationed in the bank to prevent holdups, watched the whole robbery from his position in a little coop above the cages. But he was under strict orders from bank officials not to shoot inside the bank in case of robbery.

Accordingly he withheld his fire and after sounding the burglar alarm he crawled to the roof from where he shot at the bandits as they left. One bullet struck the gas tank of the robbers' car, Townsend believes. He was able to give a slight description of the two men who came inside. One, he said, was about six feet, five inches tall and wore no hat. The other was a younger man, about 25, the guard revealed.

NO BUILDING CODE IN BRAINERD UNTIL IT IS PUBLISHED

ATTORNEY SAYS ORDINANCE COULD NOT STAND UP IN COURT UNLESS PUBLISHED

Brainerd is operating without a legal building ordinance, City Attorney W. J. Swanson notified the city council last night when Alderman W. J. Hall brought up the matter of publishing an ordinance passed in 1924.

The building code has never been published and consequently can not stand up if fought in the courts, Swanson said.

The council has deferred publication of the ordinance, holding that the expense would be heavy.

"We've got too many ordinances now. The building code as it now stands was drawn up with the assistance of contractors who will abide by it whether it has been published or not," President V. E. Quamstrom said. No action was taken.

$1,500 Transferred From General to Poor Fund

On motion of Aldermen V. F. Anderson and W. J. Hall, the council last night ordered the transfer of $1,500 from the general fund to the poor fund to bring the latter out of the red.

Engineer to Trim Trees at 5th and Kingwood

City Engineer R. T. Campbell was instructed at the city council meeting last night to trim the trees at Fifth and Kingwood streets.
